Secretary turns over shorthand minutes on concomm meeting

by Arlene Surprenant

The minutes from the May 20 meeting of the Wilmington Conservation Commission continues to be an issue with members and developer Jay Tighe. Though the minutes were finally turned over by former secretary Ella Belmore last Wednesday after the Division of Public Records got involved, they are in the original format and have yet to be transcribed.

Part of the difficulty lies in the fact that Belmore was fired shortly after the May 20 meeting and never got the chance to transcribe her notes which are still in shorthand.

Conservation Administrator Libby Sabounjian said she told Belmore if the time put in transcribing the notes was above that allotted in her contract, the board would pay additional salary.

Belmore at first agreed, said Sabounjian, then said she was counseled not to do the extra work.

Jay Tighe is seeking the minutes to reference the wetlands protection act hearing held May 20 on his Cranberry Estates on Shawshen Avenue. On August 25, Tighe sent a letter to Michael Fabbri of the District Attorney's office. In the letter, Tighe outlined the chronological steps he had taken since June 18 to obtain the minutes, including contacting the Division of Public Records. He also gave notice he was issuing a formal complaint over "the flagrant disregard of the law" and he stated his intention of pursuing the matter in court.

"I will not be satisfied, at this point, with just receiving the minutes," Tighe wrote in closing.

According to Sabounjian, a copy of the original minutes written in shorthand was turned over to Tighe last Wednesday.

"Legally," Sabounjian told the Town Crier, "the obligation to Tighe has been fulfilled."

However, at their meeting last Wednesday evening, the four commission members in attendance voted to send Belmore a letter requesting that she transcribe her notes and forward them to the board in "proper, readable form" by September 16 as the original copy was not sufficient for the commission's use. If Belmore refuses to comply with the request, members threaten to reconsider a vote taken in June to make Belmore an associate member of the commission.

Belmore told the Town Crier she would be glad to comply with the request once she receives her back pay from the town manager.

Will require environmental report on 774 project

by Arlene Surprenant

An Environmental Impact Report has been categorically included for the 774 condominium project known as Shawshen River Estates. According to MEPA representative Nancy Baker, the EIR is automatically required because the project exceeds 350 housing units and traffic from the site will exceed 3,000 cars per day.

At a consultation session held at the end of Reed Street this morning (Wednesday), Baker received comments on water, sewerage, traffic, wetlands, and other issues from the approximately 50 people gathered to raise questions and receive answers. The comments, Baker noted, will help her prepare a scope for the proposal which will be turned over to developer Jay Tighe this Friday.

Tighe will use the scope to address residential and town concerns as regards environment and traffic impacts and to help him prepare the EIR. Once the EIR is filed, the public will have 30 days to comment publicly and another 30 days after that to comment on a final document.

From time to time, Baker referred to the 31 letters she received on the project during the 20 day comment period. She assured concerned neighbors that MEPA has a responsibility to look closely at the project's impact on the abutting residential areas, especially as traffic cuts through these neighborhoods.

"The people who live here have a right to enjoy the same kind of neighborhood (as before)," she said at one point.

Attorney Carol Rolf and environmental consultant Mary Trudeau briefly outlined the proposal for Tighe and displayed a new plan which eliminates one building. They said there will be some temporary disturbance to the wetlands by Third Avenue and they plan to improve area water pressure, which they realize has been a problem. Tighe also mentioned a hazardous waste study required by the bank was made on the site and the site has been found to be free of hazardous materials.

Water Supt. Paul Duggan offered some specifics on water consumption and sewerage as he explained more details in those areas have to be worked out by the developer. He added that, to date, no plans on such things as the sizing of pipes and outflow connections have been submitted to the Water and Sewer Commission.

When the proposed sewer hookup off Hopkins Street was discussed, Tighe said he was also exploring an alternative way of bringing the line over private property. He noted it could take six months to gain approval from the MBTA to go under the railroad tracks by the Lake Street Bridge, though Duggan said Wilmington once took five years to obtain all permits to run a line under Rt.93.

When some residents questioned why the sewer couldn't come down Reed Street, Tighe said that remained a possibility if the town would show some sign of becoming a "friendly partner."

Traffic impact was another big concern to residents of the area. One or two people pointed out that Tighe refused to compromise on the two planned access roads to the development. Others pointed out that drivers would use the two access roads as a bypass road from Wilmington to Billerica, thus increasing traffic further and creating a danger to children in the area.

Bailey Road resident Mike Roache asked that any traffic study take into account potential future development, such as the R10 subdivision proposed for the milk farm itself and industrial buildings under construction on Cook Street.

Baker said if the project affects more than ten percent of the traffic in the area, that's considered "significant" by MEPA and will be seriously reviewed.

Grace Drive resident Dot Phillips, who injected a conciliatory tone into the proceedings, told Baker "we're residents here, we're scared (but) we should all try to work for the good of all of us."

Following the hour and a half session, those in attendance made an on site inspection of the property.

Four injured

Four men were injured when this Mustang II was involved in an accident at Route 62 and High Street in North Wilmington at midnight Thursday.

Four hurt in high-speed crash

Four young men were injured in a high-speed accident on Route 62 at High Street about midnight Thursday.

A 1985 Ford Mustang II driven by Thomas McHugh, 21, of 59 Church St., Wilmington collided with a 1977 Chevrolet station wagon, hit a fence, flipped over, and skidded on its roof. Three passengers in the Mustang were ejected, all with serious injuries.

Kevin Kavanaugh, 21, of 48 Adams St., and David Florio, 21, of 15 Rosemary Ct., Nashua, N.H., formerly of Clorinda Road, Wilmington, were both taken to Mass. General Hospital. As of Wednesday morning, Kavanaugh was in good condition, and Florio was in fair condition.

William Eno, 22, of 97 Nichols St. was taken to Beth Israel Hospital where he is listed in fair condition with a spinal injury.

McHugh was released from the hospital on Tuesday.

The Mustang was travelling west on Route 62, allegedly at a high rate of speed. The station wagon was emerging from Middlesex Avenue, making a left turn.

Officer Bob Richter of the Wilmington Police Dept. said that speed was a factor, although no specifics have yet been determined. Blood samples have been subpoenaed to determine if alcohol was involved. Trooper Brian Dunn of the Mass. State Police is also investigating.

The station wagon was driven by Joanne DeLuca, 17, of 70 Federal St. A passenger was identified as Cindy Elliott of 18 Allen Park Dr. Neither reported any injuries.

The intersection has been the scene of many serious accidents, including a fatality earlier this year. Rep. Jim Miceli has initiated work on a set of traffic lights, but they will not be completed until next May.

Bid awarded on bridge reconstruction

A successful bid for reconstruction of the Butters Row bridge in Wilmington was for the sum of $25,000, according to Rep. James Miceli. The bid was awarded after a conference on Sept. 3.

Miceli expects that there will be a 25 day delay, before construction starts. Approval is needed from AMTRAK.

The Boston & Maine Railroad, which was operating the freight train that caused the accident, will pay the costs of the work. When started it should be completed in five days.

Thieves came back for seconds

For the second time in three weeks, thieves have broken into the A-1 Fish Market in Wilmington.

The break was discovered at 9 a.m. Saturday. The lock on the front door had been forced, and then replaced.

Missing were 1000 pounds of shrimp, 350 pounds of lobster and $100 cash.

An almost identical break was discovered on August 17 at the same store. Police report that there have been a large number of similar breaks in nearby towns.

The Mosque Known as "The Mosque", this building on Ballardvale Street is served by Andover water and a Wilmington sewer. The Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners have refused to accept responsibility for the sewer.

A tough problem gets a tough answer

A sewer problem of sorts was sort of solved, on September 2nd by action of the Wilmington Water & Sewer Commissioners. It involved the northernmost commercial buildings on Ballardvale Street, numbered 377 Ballardvale St.

The owner, Howland Development Corp., wanted to build last year rather than wait for six months or a year, while the Wilmington water commissioners were taking care of other Ballardvale Street problems.

Howland made arrangements to get water from Andover, and then had the Wilmington commissioners approve. Construction started.

While the construction was taking place sewer mains were laid, with the idea of connection with the Wilmington sewer, under construction. The Wilmington sewer would reach the area of the buildings sometime in mid-summer of this year.

The plans for the sewer mains were not shown to the sewer commissioners. The sewers were constructed.

When the plans were presented, after construction, the commissioners refused to approve. They have a resident engineer who must approve all sewer proposals. There are also engineers to oversee all sewer work as it takes place.

For some months there has been, well, sort of a comedy.

A succession of civil engineers were hired by the owner, in an attempt to solve the problem. Each in turn appeared before the water and sewer commissioners. Each in turn was told of the problems being presented by the lack of engineering, and then left, to appear no more.

Finally, in the last half of August, an agreement was reached by an engineer, with the help of Attorney Joseph Courtney regarding the sewer problem.

The sewage connection could be made, but there will be absolutely no approval of any of the sewer work done on the premises.

From now until eternity, any problems of the sewers in the area where that building is located will be the responsibility of whoever owns the property. There will be no help of any kind from the Wilmington Board of Water & Sewer Commissioners.

INGROWN NAILS
WHAT CAN BE DONE?

Ingrown toenails are one of the most common complaints that cause people to seek the attention of a Foot Specialist - Podiatrist. This disorder is usually caused by an inherited abnormal curvature along the side on the toenail, a thickening caused by damage of the nail or fungal infection of the nail.

Correction is usually aimed at removal of the ingrown portion of nail, elimination of an infection that may be present and destruction of the root which causes the ingrown or thickened nail.

These procedures are done under local anesthesia on an out-patient basis in either the office or hospital.

Affordable housing committee cannot approve projects

by Bill Conlon

There seems to be some confusion about the role of the Tewksbury Affordable Housing Committee. Members of both the committee and the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen have accused the press of misstating the role of the board, so herewith is an outline of just what does what in regards to the sudden influx of condo projects in town.

Chapter 774 of the Acts of 1969 called for affordable housing in Massachusetts, but no funding for affordable housing was provided until recently. Now, with millions of dollars in state aid available, scores of new "affordable housing" projects are being proposed in cities and towns across the state.

Until recently, any condominium project first needed to go before the voters at Town Meeting, to have the zoning of the land changed to multi-family dwelling (MFD). The development then went before the planning board and other town agencies before being built.

To encourage the construction of affordable housing, however, the state drastically changed the way such projects are handled.

As long as a project has at least 25 percent of its units subsidized by the state, the procedure to bring an "affordable housing" project is now much simpler. Instead of going before Town Meeting and various agencies, a developer today needs to submit just one application -- to the board of appeals.

The appeals board must hold a scheduled public hearing on the project, then vote to approve or deny within 40 days of the hearing.

And that's it. The board of appeals is the only town agency with the power to approve or deny affordable housing projects, as provided by Chapter 40B of the Massachusetts General Laws.

The board of appeals, however, is not prepared to review in detail all of the projects being proposed in town, so the affordable housing committee was formed by a unanimous vote of the board of selectmen, after it was learned that the town of Andover was planning to put affordable housing units at the end of a Tewksbury dead-end street.

The affordable housing committee is made up of members from the planning board, board of selectmen, housing authority and conservation commission, all of whom review the application. The purpose of the affordable housing committee is to negotiate with the developer in order to protect the town's interests, then make recommendations to the appeals board.

So, the affordable housing committee can neither approve nor deny an affordable housing project. The committee simply makes recommendations to the appeals board, where the only important vote is taken.

Neighbor complains to WHA about tree cutting over property line

by Arlene Surprenant

William Bannon of Kilby Street came before the Wilmington Housing Authority (WHA) Tuesday night to complain the sub contractor hired by Sciaba Construction Corp. mistakenly cut down trees on his property. Sciaba is the contractor responsible for developing the eight Chapter 705 homes on scattered sites. Bannon's property abuts the Cary Street site slated for one of the low to moderate income homes.

Bannon told members he was concerned not only with encroachment on his property but with the way the contractor was grading the site and the way he is filling land so that water runoff may be discharged to abutting property.

"The way they're doing this I don't think these guys ever did this before," Bannon added.

WHA Chairman Kevin McMillan assured Bannon the contractor had no right to encroach on his property. He suggested Bannon show the board a plot plan of his property so members could help rectify the problem.

In other action, the board agreed a meeting should be set up between abutters to the old American Legion property and the May Institute of Chatham on plans to locate a group home for six autistic children on that site. A state grant of $180,000 is available to fund the project.

Members pushed to get the stalled project underway, though a few like McMillan felt the board had done enough of the "legwork" and paperwork and institute officials should carry some of the load.

Though members said the site agreed to by the Wilmington Board of Selectmen was centrally located, some like Elaine Hachey felt it may not be suitable nor large enough for both the building and the parking facilities. Dan Gillis moved for a joint meeting to get abutters' feelings on the proposed site.

Approximately ten Denning Way residents were present to discuss ongoing plans to modernize the 30 year old units. After a long wait, work is set to start at the end of September.

Discussion centered on carpets, some of which will be difficult to remove because they were originally glued to the floors. Compounding the problem is the fact that the contractor refuses to do the work because it's not in his contract and there are no extra funds to hire anyone else.

One solution suggested was to have the tenant's family help with the work. Another was to ask for volunteers from the town. Betty Keough, who is acting as liaison between the Tenant's Association and the board during the modernization process, said the residents were "really, really upset" about the carpeting problem. McMillan told the tenants "we're trying to make it (the whole process) as easy as possible for everyone." He added the work will proceed on a unit by unit basis with some apartments needing more work than others.

According to the contract, no tenant will be asked to leave his or her apartment for more than a ten day period while repairs are made and new commercial grade carpeting and tile is laid down. Tenants are expected to stay either with family or in furnished trailers on site while the work progresses in individual units.

Several Wilmington women recently attended "A Day at the State House" sponsored by the Public Affairs Department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Lieutenant Governor Evelyn Murphy was guest speaker and Senators Lois Pine and William Bulger and Representatives Richard Voke, Marie Parente, and James Miceli also addressed the group of women who came from all over the state.

S.W.E.A.T. nears goal of Shawsheen refuge

The Shawsheen Watershed Environmental Action Team is making a move towards creating a wildlife refuge along the Shawsheen River.

S.W.E.A.T. has called a meeting for Monday, Sept. 14, to discuss conservation restrictions for land bordering the river, and riverfront landowners are being invited to discuss the proposal.

The concept of the "Shawsheen Meadows Wildlife Refuge" was first announced in June, during annual River Day activities at Foster's Park, Tewksbury. River Day is an annual event held by S.W.E.A.T. to promote awareness of the Shawsheen River.

The Monday night meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the headquarters of the Tewksbury Rod & Gun club, at 79 Chandler Street. The public is cordially invited and refreshments will be served.

Tech to hire two assistant directors

by Arlene Surprenant

At their meeting Tuesday night, members of the Shawsheen Tech Regional School Committee voted to post two new administrative positions at the school.

One is that of Assistant Superintendent/Director, a position which had been phased out several years ago. The assistant will act as second in command and will supervise the coordinators, department heads, and other personnel as well as coordinate the curriculum.

The second position is that of Assistant Superintendent/Director for Community Services. This assistant will supervise and coordinate such auxiliary Tech programs as adult education, job training, summer school, and the occupational skills training program.

Both positions are being posted internally at salaries of $49,000 and $47,000, respectively. The set salaries were the subject of some debate at Tuesday's meeting.

Members John Gillis and Richard Griffin favored a range in salary, while others like Kevin Sowyrda felt there was no need to offer such a range since the job was posted for in-house candidates. Griffin also felt the salaries should be equal, but he was overruled because it was felt the second in command would have more responsibilities.

Supt/Director Charles Lyons was given credit for being the prime mover behind the hiring of the two assistants. According to Sowyrda, Lyons laid much of the groundwork and outlined his plan to members last month.

The committee hopes to have the assistants on board during the academic year. They also seemed pleased the jobs were being offered internally.

"With the type of professionals we have in the building, there is obviously not going to be a problem finding people to fill these two posts," Sowyrda said.

Frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

There was a time when the media covered an upcoming holiday a bit differently than they do today. Take this past Labor Day as a typical example. On the Thursday before "three day weekend madness" began to affect the general populace, Chet and Natalie would normally be talking about the contributions of working men and women to America, and that it was only fitting to recognize them with the official holiday. But this year, and to an extent last year, the principal message to be heard in either the print or electronic media was that "road blocks will be set up everywhere", and that you had better act accordingly. Unfortunately, this attitude change in how we celebrate holidays has both pros and cons to it.

The number one pro is that the public and government don't seem to be too tolerant these days of people who decide to drink in excess, and then make matters worse by getting behind the wheel of a car. In fact, there really hasn't been any debate on whether or not drunk driving is a good thing. Unless there is a real problem with the oxygen flow to your head, you're bound to have a lot of enmity toward someone who drives when they're not in complete control of themselves.

What the debate has centered around is how to best deal with the problem of getting drunk drivers off the roadways. The first solution applied by the state was the controversial use of roadblocks -- or what the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles prefers to call "sobriety check points". Anyway, either way you look at them a roadblock is a roadblock. You'll recognize one immediately as you're driving down a roadway which has been targeted by the state for a check. There are usually a number of police vehicles on hand, as well as a number of police. Every driver is stopped and given a nice little informational pamphlet. At the same time, you can bet your bottom dollar that the police officer handing you the pamphlet is keeping his eyes and nostrils wide open for signs of alcohol.

A lot of people, thinking of this idea of roadblocks on the surface, have been quick to support it. When you heard the various warnings last week, you may have even appreciated the state's efforts. But all of this is due to the fact that drunk driving roadblocks are the most theatrical solution to a problem which is better deserving the more substantive answer. Public Safety Secretary Charles Barry has never had a better public relations opportunity since the roadblocks began. The eleven o'clock news can't resist the chance for a shot of seven sets of flashing blue lights stopping all visible traffic on a highway. It's better than a night house fire. But the fact is that a better Labor Day warning next year would be that all the highways will be patrolled.

Here is a quiz for you. Which is more efficient, A) seven police cruisers and personnel patrolling seven different stretches of highway for drunk drivers, or, B) seven police cruisers and personnel conducting a roadblock at one single location? If you picked 'A' give yourself a pat on the back. If you picked 'B', you're either wrong or related to Mike Dukakis. The simple fact is that we're not making wise use of our public safety resources when we bunch them up in one location. It does succeed in the area of publicity, but apparently publicity wasn't enough when the president of the state firefighters union was killed last month.

So if we are committed to finding drunk drivers, we might start looking for them, as opposed to waiting for them to find us at a roadblock. You're bound to catch a few, but better results will come by patrolling as much stretch of highway as humanly possible. There has always been an old joke that where you find a Dunkin Donuts, you'll also find a number of police. Well, if we're quick to snarl at that prospect, it's somewhat ironic that anyone could attempt to support road blocks or sobriety check points as the best solution to drunk driving.

And in the end, there is always the issue of civil liberties. A road block is a method of pulling you over without probable cause. And though some have actually said that this sacrifice is worth while, they might want to consider the following, "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety." Those words were written in 1759 by a gentleman named Benjamin Franklin.

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

I am writing this letter in hope that our townspeople and state rep.'s will read this and investigate thoroughly Mr. DeCarolis' request to install a 24-unit condominium complex on Maryland Road which is a two-way dead end little side street off Wolcott Street with which the only access out is via Wolcott.

Wolcott Street has been left in an extremely dangerous condition due to the Town of Tewksbury not being able to afford to complete the road properly. Wolcott Street is also a narrow side street off Brown in which the town was supposed to move the road to its proper location when installing the sewerage, but was unable to do, so they only moved the road over from Georgia Road and left a sharp, dangerous corner with a bad incline instead.

To get to the end of Wolcott Street you have to drive down, take a sharp right onto Georgia Road, then take a sharp left again back on to Wolcott. Both houses on either side of the street have small toddlers playing in the road around that blind curve. Now Mr. DeCarolis wants to add another 75 to 100 more cars traveling that blind curve, which 24-unit condominiums will add.

You have to figure two cars per family, plus the cars the children drive and the company visiting them that these units will bring. Not only are the road conditions extremely dangerous, but if there was ever a woods fire up here we would fry as there is only one access out, Wolcott Street, which is already getting overcrowded.

Builders, such as Mr. DeCarolis, are using this new anti-snob, affordable housing law to make their pockets richer with no care or thought whatsoever to the health and safety of our townspeople. Mr. DeCarolis had told myself and the new residents who recently bought their homes on Maryland Road that he was going to build five more houses and have a nice cul-de-sac. These new families with small children bought their homes in good faith that they were buying on a child safe street. So didn't the other families who recently bought on Maryland Road from the other builders. Now they have to worry about these little toddlers getting killed by all this added congested traffic that these units will bring if approved.

Something is wrong with our laws that allow for a dangerous situation. The Benson Road residents were not heard, now it will be the Wolcott Street, Georgia Road and Maryland Road residents. Please don't let this happen. If nothing is done about this, it may be your neighborhood next!!

In this town it seems to be that one acre of land was needed to build a single family dwelling. How can the town or state approve 24 units on a little better than four acres of land which has to allow for parking facilities for 75 to 100 cars on a little side back road with only one access out?

Please take a ride down Wolcott Street to see just what I'm thinking about. Mr. Miceli, if you read this letter, please also investigate and attend the meeting October 1 and require a full scale investigation before allowing any board to approve this request. Also, if anyone in this town is interested in protecting their neighborhood, help us Maryland Road and Wolcott Street residents by coming to the October 1 meeting for Armando DeCarolis' request to put condominiums on Maryland Road and help us stop him and other builders like him from creating serious health and safety hazards to us and our children.

What ever happened to the "Government by the people, for the people???"

Sincerely,
Paula E. Post

Dear Larz:

I have been spending on the average of six nights a month for the past six months at the Town Hall trying to keep informed in anything concerning Article 774 threats to the town.

It has been a very enlightening experience. What I have learned is: The State has supplied a vehicle to aide greedy and wreckless developers and their uncaring bankers to destroy many towns by unwise development. It seems that the Governor and the Legislature think there are more rich people than poor in every town in the State because they have applied a 10 percent minimum requirement of affordable housing in every town state wide. If any given town does not have, according to state statistics, 10 percent affordable housing it becomes a prime target for some developer to make a bundle.

Let's get something straight. We pay taxes to the state and town to keep our governments staffed with competent personnel to prevent situations happening such as the aforementioned. I invite any legislator on "The Hill" to spend enough time to familiarize himself with this issue and in good conscience sanction it. If any Legislator in the state does, then he is betraying the trust of the people who put him there.

Let us look at Wilmington and its affordable housing issue. We have, according to the 1980 census between three and four percent affordable housing. Rubbish! If the irresponsible people who set up this requirement looked at the incomes of the people who already live here, they would probably find that we already have more than 10 percent except that the hard working people who did not ask for any special favors, do not qualify. I believe that any family in Wilmington who's income falls within the States affordable housing category should be included in the 10 percent count. I think that if this were done our town would have 10 years to plan and implement our own housing goals. If it were done state wide, maybe the affordable housing would be placed where it is needed, and not destroy the planning and organized development of so many towns like ours.

It is time for some new ideas and rules to keep a reasonable supply of affordable housing in this state. Article 774 has been used and abused too long as a vehicle to supply affordable housing. The state has given free lessons to any developer who would like to utilize 774 to beat town government. It is no wonder that it has an 80 percent acceptance rate. The only way you can not get accepted is by not being a good student; of course many of the developers are hiring the people who wrote the rules and no longer work for the state. It is time to pull the rug out Michael.

Sincerely,
David J. Sweeney

editorial

by Bill Conlon

Affordable housing laws are both a blessing and a curse, depending upon who you ask.

Folks with low income -- and a low income by today's standards would be considered comfortable even ten years ago -- who could never afford their own home at current prices, at last have their chance. With state-controlled prices and subsidized mortgages, those who were shut out of today's high-stakes real estate market may now sit by a hearth they can call their own.

So much for the good news. The rest is war. Area towns and their residents are literally howling about the affordable housing laws and the devastation being caused by them. Instead of letting voters decide if a condo project is a worthy addition to the community -- for instance, would the development improve the quality of life in town? -- there is no such input. Those who might oppose any such "affordable" condo project are termed snobs, so the might was handed over to the developers.

Voters are screaming in helpless rage as project after project comes marching into town, with only the board of appeals to stop them. But if the appeals board says no, the developer can then seek a state override, and the bulldozers are rolling once again.

Where will it end? A more simple question: Will it end?

No. Until the town reaches the arbitrary level of ten percent "affordable" housing -- meaning one house in ten is funded through a state subsidy -- the builders may build until their pockets burst. But the cycle is vicious, and potentially never ending.

Tewksbury is at least demanding the maximum of 40 percent "affordable" units in all projects brought to date. Fine. But to reach the ten-percent level, the town will need some 460 units of subsidized housing built. That means roughly 1160 units must be built, total, of which 40 percent (460) will fill the current requirement. The other 700 or so, however, will be counted toward the next round of affordable housing requirements, and the town will again be forced to let the bulldozers roar.

To take another slant, if all the affordable housing projects brought before the Tewksbury Board of Appeals so far were to be approved right now, the town would be only one-third of the way toward filling the state requirement. And that includes the original proposals from the developers, not the scaled-down "compromise" projects that were negotiated through the affordable housing review committee.

So, there's a lot of pain left to come. If you live near a fair-sized tract of open land, you can reasonably expect to hear of a condo proposal someday soon. Simple economics makes it silly for a developer to sit on a patch of land that could hold hundreds of condo units, especially with the state helping push the project through.

But a few voices are being raised in the former wilderness. Rep. James Miceli (D.-Tewksbury, Wilmington) is proposing a measure to suspend the affordable housing laws until the first of the year. Not much, but it's a start.

Yet another and perhaps more profound move was almost made by the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen. During the September 1 meeting of the board, Selectman Charles Coppola argued strongly in favor of an article for the upcoming town meeting to spend $30,000 of town funds to help out Rep. Miceli's measure. The money be used in any way Miceli saw fit, according to Coppola, including the use of lobbyists. Coppola's proposal was voted down on a narrow 3-2 vote.

Miceli mentioned a few months ago, during an appeals board public hearing, that support for the affordable housing laws was strong in the Legislature. He said he doubted even receiving a majority of his committee -- let alone the full Legislature -- to dump the housing bill. He's trying, but it's an uphill battle.

All of which places the power back where it should have been in the first place: the voting public. The only way to dump the affordable housing laws is through public pressure. Write to your state Senator. Drop a line to your state Rep., and convince your brother in Worcester to do the same. Call Jerry Williams. Make some noise!

If the heat is put on soon enough, your kids might be able to keep playing in that cow pasture over the back fence for years to come.

If not, there could be condos there tomorrow.

Now move! It's up to you.

Illegal aliens reported living in Wilmington

Seven illegal aliens are living in a Wilmington house according to a report of the Times-Chronicle of Woburn, last Thursday. All are said to be former residents of Mexico City.

The house is the last one on the right before crossing into Reading. The Wilmington assessors list the owner as the Edward W. Callan Investment, 1 Financial Center, Boston. It was for many years the home of the Hupper family, well known in Wilmington.

The residents told the Woburn Times that they and two supervisors who live in a trailer near the house, had been without running water for three days, as of September 1. The water service, they told the Times reporter, comes from a private well, and had been sporadic all summer. They had been forced to relieve themselves in a wooded area behind the house.

Edward Callan is a Winchester resident, with extensive real estate holdings. He is involved in several controversies at the present time. A spokesman for Callan, last Wednesday told the Times that Callan had no knowledge that illegal aliens were either living in the house nor working at the Edgewater Office Park in Wakefield, which Callan owns and manages.

Gregory Kennedy, president of the Edward Callan Interests of Wakefield said that the firm has been leasing the house for seven months to an independent contractor who oversees groundskeeping and maintenance at Edgewater.

Kennedy identified the firm as Vito Benevento, which he said, is based in Houston, Texas. Kennedy was unable to provide a telephone number for Benevento. Kennedy said that it was not the Callan firm's concern that another company may be using illegal aliens, or that these aliens may be living in a house owned by Callan.

But Callan told the Times Chronicle that he has ordered that all contractors who work for his company should document where their employees come from. He estimated that there are two to three thousand people who are employed by contractors who work for his firm.

Under a new federal law an employer who hires illegal aliens may be fined or imprisoned.

A Times Chronicle reporter last week found that the West Street was no hell-hole. Several residents were watching a colored TV and VCR set in the living room. Others listened to stereos, or just took it easy.

But living conditions were far from ideal. Mattresses were spread out everywhere, with the TV being described as the only source of light in the living room. Flashlights had to be used to enter the bathrooms.

A foul odor emanated from two toilets which could not be flushed because of the loss of water service.

One resident told the Times Chronicle reporter that he had illegally entered the United States in 1983, and made his way to the Boston area two years ago. He had been living in the Wilmington house for the past five months. He and six others, residents of the house, he said, were here illegally, a statement which was confirmed by others.

They work from four to seven days a week, depending on weather and how much work is to be done, and they put in eight and nine hour days. They are paid about $5 an hour, and are charged no rent for living in the house.

Wilmington inspection

Gregory Erickson, public health director of Wilmington, visited the property on September 2. There was no one home. He told the Times Chronicle reporter that he could take no further action unless there were a complaint from someone living on the property. That, he said, was unlikely to happen.

In answer to a question Erickson said he could return at night, when someone was at home, but that, legally, he had no "probable cause" to inspect the premises since he had not received a formal complaint. Erickson said that he would inspect the premises on the same day, - or night, that he received a complaint from one of the residents.

56 acre development

Callan has for some months been trying to develop 56 acres of land, easterly of Route 93, in Woburn, Reading and Wilmington. It was to be known as Inwood Office Park and the eastern boundary was to be along the streets known as Washington Street in Woburn, and West Street in Reading and Wilmington.

The Wilmington part of the property is only that of the former Hupper property. There was some speculation, some months ago, that Callan intended to get water from the Wilmington Water and Sewer Department, using the former Hupper property as his entrance to the property.

In Reading, where there has been no property for sale along the West Street boundary, there has been vehement opposition from residents. They are of a belief that the Inwood Office Park would create terrific traffic problems in their neighborhood.

Callan requested a limited waiver from the state Executive Office of Environmental Affairs. Two months ago that office announced that it would not grant the limited waiver that Callan had requested. The agency cited concerns about traffic and sewerage capacity.

Childrens' ideas sought for new playground

by Arlene Surprenant

Plans for Wilmington's first creative playground Kidsplace, which will be located at the Shawsheen School, are moving rapidly ahead.

Design Day is scheduled for Thursday, September 17. During this time, a representative of architect Robert Leathers will meet with Wilmington children, teachers, parents, and other residents to gain input and to explain the unique project.

Children in all three elementary schools will be encouraged to use their imaginations and come up with specific ideas on what they would like their playground to include. Many of the 300 Leathers' playgrounds created in the past 15 years have included mazes, castles, forts, tunnels, ships, bridges, ramps, sliding poles, balance beams, and much more. Proponents expect Wilmington's Kidsplace will contain between 60 to 100 apparatus.

The success of the project depends on cooperation between the architect and the entire community. Each Leathers' play area is uniquely designed to suit its site and the needs and dreams of the children who will use it.

On September 17, the Kidsplace official will meet with all students between 9 and 11:30 a.m. in each of the primary schools. One child from each grade will be chosen to represent his or her class on a special Children's Committee under the direction of coordinators Susan McCarthy and Debby Birmingham.

At 7:30 p.m., parents, children, and interested residents are invited to the Shawsheen School to learn more about the project and to view the final design created during the day. A slide show on other creative play areas will be shown, refreshments will be served, and work schedules and fundraising efforts will be discussed. There will also be an opportunity to sign up for committees for Construction Weekend when town volunteers will build the entire playground.

25 years ago

The September 13, 1962 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

Seventeen-year-old W.H.S. senior Dickie Allard "stole the show" from older, more experienced speakers, when he addressed the audience at Legion Post 136 installation of officers. Dickie spoke "from the heart" on the subject of Boys' State - a three day seminar at UMass, an institution of the Legion whereby 500 Massachusetts boys gain experience every year.

Carl Dreger was installed as commander of Post 136 while other speakers included Congressman Brad Morse, State Sen. Jimmy Long, Reps. Frank Tanner and Tom Donahue, Selectman John Brooks.

Howard Hartwell of Butters Row returned home Tuesday after a visit to the west coast which included a week in Vancouver, Wash., to attend the World's Fair.

Past Commander James Shine of the Tattersall Chapter 106 DAV was honored by being elected to the National Chapter and thus entitled to wear a red hat at DAV functions. Commander Shine was believed to be the only Wilmington resident who was a member of the local, state and national chapters DAV.

James Southmayd, son of Mrs. Lillian Southmayd of River Street was accepted by the US Army Language School in Perside, Monterey, Calif. He would be a Russian language major. A graduate of WHS, 1961, he was home on 15 days leave after completing eight weeks basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

Ralph Orne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Orne of Beverly Avenue, was serving aboard the destroyer USS Perry where he took part in Riptide III in the Eastern Atlantic

Oops!

Readers of the Town Crier will find an extra eight pages in this issue -- including a page of comics. The pages, part of Wednesday's Daily Times-Chronicle, were printed on the same press run as a part of Middlesex East, which runs in the Town Crier.

The error was discovered on Tuesday night, and there were two choices. One was to manually pull out each and every section, all 6600 of them, remembering that most of the help returns to school on Wednesday. The other choice was to let it run.

Enjoy the comics, because it is the last time you will see them in the paper -- we hope.

Girl Scout registration night

"What is a Girl Scout?"

This is a question that girls in Tewksbury and Wilmington may be asking in a few years. Girl Scouts are becoming an endangered species in these two towns.

The leaders and girls currently involved in Scouting would like to turn this around.

Girl Scouts is an organization designed to help girls grow through learning about a wide variety of subjects. They learn about subjects divided into five areas: The World of Well-being, The World of Today and Tomorrow, The World of Peopale, The World of the Outdoors, and The World of the Arts.

The girls participate in many fun and exciting activities along the way to growing into a well-rounded, independent and successful adults.

Girl Scouts are divided into groups according to age level and each level is geared to the abilities of girls that age. The levels are: Daisy Girl Scouts for girls in kindergarten; Brownie Girl Scouts for girls in grades one through three; Junior Girl Scouts for girls in grades four through six; Cadette Girl Scouts for girls in grades seven through nine and Senior Girl Scouts for girls in grades 10 through 12.

The key to the Girl Scout organization is the adult volunteer. As in many organizations, Girl Scouting would not exist without the dedicated adults--both men and women--who give their time and knowledge. Adults have just as much fun as the girls learning about new subjects and activities. There are many, varied training sessions and lots of support available for young volunteers.

Tewksbury and Wilmington Girl Scouts combine to make up the Baldwin Neighborhood within the larger Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council.

Troops within the Baldwin Neighborhood get together at various times throughout the year for activities and trips.

If you would like to register yourself and/or your daughter for Girl Scouts in either Tewksbury or Wilmington or would like more information please attend registration night.

Registration will be at the Trahan School on Salem Road, Tewksbury, Wednesday, Sept. 16, seven to eight o'clock.

20 of 29 boards favor Ch. 774 repeal

by Arlene Surprenant

In an informal survey of communities belonging to the Massachusetts Federation of Planning and Appeals Boards, 20 out of 29 respondents favored the repeal of the anti-snob zoning law known as Chapter 774. Of the remaining nine boards, seven favored changes to the law, one was split in its feelings, and one was vehemently opposed to either a repeal or amendment to the law.

The opinion poll was conducted by Wilmington Housing Authority member Dan Gillis, with the sanction of Nancy Cowhig, president of the federation. Gillis received replies from such towns as Stockbridge, Lunenburg, Rowley, Concord, Millis, Needham, Wakefield, Attleboro, and West Tisbury.

In his letter, Gillis explained the 774 law "does away with all zoning and protection of our towns and properties." Gillis then asked member towns to send in their opinion on whether they would support a petition to state legislators to repeal 774.

The law has come under fire recently because of the amount of dense condominium projects presently proposed in Wilmington and nearby towns. Burlington and Rep Augusto Grace have taken steps to create a review committee in order to modify the law. Suggestions have been made to find ways to keep low to moderate income units in the affordable range and to clarify the law as relating to the health and safety of town and city residents. Billerica Selectman David DeLoey and an active citizen's group in that town have supported Burlington's action as have other towns and several Wilmington officials.

Wilmington Selectman Jim Stewart and former selectman Rocco DePasquale have publicly pushed for alternate methods of developing affordable housing, at the same time keeping local control and creating units and homes which are consistent with surrounding neighborhoods. A Wilmington letter writing campaign has reached other states in an effort to question the law and where Gov. Dukakis stands on 774 during his presidential campaign.

State Rep James Miceli continues to gain the support of fellow legislators in a move to suspend 774 from September to January to allow for a thorough investigation of its alleged inequities.

Of the favorable replies in Gillis' survey, the majority of boards mentioned the fact that 774 takes alot of the planning out of local hands. They also noted that under the law, only a small percentage of units are set aside for low to moderate income families. These units, after a period of time, then revert to the developer who can sell them at market value. This, they said, was not a long term answer to the affordable housing issue. Some said the law reveals a "public be damned" attitude and offered to circulate a repeal petition.

Those who favored changes to the law said 774 may be the only way to force communities to take some responsibility to create affordable housing.

The Beverly Planning Board stood alone in its stand to support 774.

"It is our opinion that little, if any, 'affordable' housing would ever be built were it not for Ch. 774," wrote Planning Director Peter H. Phillips. He went on to say if the federation chose to seek a repeal, his board would "immediately cancel our membership."

In a letter to Cowhig, Carole Hamilton of the Wilmington Planning Board expressed her dissatisfaction with Gillis' action in soliciting opinions in a "totally inappropriate" manner. Hamilton objected to the use of the federation letterhead to launch what she referred to as a "personal campaign on the issue of Chapter 774" by Gillis. She said Gillis' letter was "filled with inaccuracies." Hamilton also sought correspondence from Cowhig "indicating that this is not an official stand of the Mass. Federation of Planning and Appeals Boards."

Keli Mehigan (holding box) was the winner of the bean guessing contest. Her guess was closest to the 8250 beans in the jar. Other winners were (front l. to r.) Randy Peach and Stephanie Winn and (rear) Billy Harrison and Heather Scott. Patricia Gass donated the grand prize. Other prizes were donated by Friendly Ice Cream.

Beans, beans, beans

Bean contest marks end of 'Magical Summer'

The last reading folders were stamped with magical doves, the last prizes given out this week when a very "Magical Summer" ended at the Wilmington Memorial Library as children prepared to return to school with their folders to celebrate the Magic of Books.

Billy Harrison, eight; Keli Mehigan, 10; Randy Peach, six; Heather Scott, nine; and Stephanie Winn, three came closest to the actual number (we counted!) of 8,250. Among the more than 800 entries were guesses from a low of 18 to a high of 1,000,000,000,000. The five winners all guessed 8000 and received prizes of Reese's Snack Cup certificates donated by Friendly's of Wilmington Plaza.

Patricia Gass, library page, donated a special grand prize of a "Hat Full of Magic" kit which had been on display during the summer, and presented it to the winner of a runoff guessing contest among the five winners. And what is going to happen to the beans themselves - so artistically arranged in a gallon glass jar by their lender, Assistant Children's Librarian Susan MacDonald? "I'll be making lots of bean soup this year, I guess," laughed Miss MacDonald when asked by a prize winner who preferred ice cream to beans.

Other summer prize winners who received Friendly's ice cream certificates or prizes of books about magic as "Lucky readers of the Week" were: Danny Avellino, Gina Pavone, Nicole Conley, Kevin Kacamburas, Ava Gardinier, Maya Persuad, Dorothy Medeiros, Christopher Cassidy, Matt Rowe, Karen Medeiros, Joan DeMarco, Jo-Ann Tamilio, Jaime Christy, Joseph Kane, Bryan Mather, Beth Josephson, Jill Edmonds, Jason Bucchieri, and Scott Mahoney. Also, Kenneth Stokes, Michael Kane, Jay Bridges, Dianne LaRocque, April Ryan, Doria Maselli, Lynda Guy, Kim Surprenant, John Shirley, Adam Volpe, Wendy Meegan, Sean Monroe, Michele Kearns, Rebecca Mahoney and Julie Gillis. Lucky Reader of the Week prizes were awarded during the summer as books coupons were drawn from the Magic Hat following the popular Magic Movies on Wednesday afternoons.

Julie Gillis was an especially lucky winner at the library this summer as she won tickets for her entire family to attend an exciting performance of "Le Grand David and his own Spectacular Magic Company" at the Cabot Street Theater in Beverly in August. The tickets were part of a grant from the Wilmington Arts Council. All children who registered for the summer program before July 15 were eligible for the special drawing.

Sarah Rueter who heads children's services at the library is pleased by the success of this year's program and is already thinking about next year's. "It seems like a long way off, but these programs take a lot of planning," says Mrs. Rueter who enjoys the fact that many of the children think her name is "Mrs. Reader." The cooperative reading part of the summer program is co-sponsored by the Children's Department of the library and the Reading Department of the Wilmington Public Schools. This summer 525 children were officially registered for the Cooperative Summer Reading Program and hundreds of others participated informally.

DIVORCE AND THE NEW TAX LAW

Divorce is never easy; the new tax law has made the money questions more difficult. Here's what to watch out for:

Alimony is deductible by the payor and taxable as income by the payee. Not that the tax rates are lower, alimony costs more out of pocket to the person who pays it and is worth more to the person who gets it.

Child support is neither deductible nor taxable -- but you can't turn it into deductible alimony by changing the name; if payments are to stop when the child is a certain age, it's child support.

Property settlement is not deductible. Can you call it alimony and write it off? The IRS limits payments to $15,000 a year for the first three years, unless you meet certain stringent requirements. In a property settlement, the basis price of an asset is the original purchase price, and the one who gets it also gets the tax bill for the capital gains when it's sold.

When you have to make financial decisions, you'll get good advice at Joyce K. Brisbois, C.P.A., 8 Middlesex Ave., P.O. Box 176, Wilmington, MA 01887 658-5034.

Council meets Monday

At 1:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 14 the Council on Aging will meet in the function room. After the business meeting Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski will be the guest speaker. He has accepted the invitation to answer questions about the town from seniors. This is your opportunity, if you have a question to get it answered from the person who can give it to you. Coffee and goodies will be served after the meeting.

Fall lunch program

The seniors' fall lunch program has resumed this year at the cafeteria in the high school. The meal is being served at 11:15 a.m. with coffee available at 11 a.m. Moving the program to the high school will allow the seniors a choice of three different meals. A hot meal, a cold salad or if you prefer, pasta or pizza as your meal.

It must be remembered that each meal you select will cost 50 cents. You cannot mix the meals for 50 cents. As for parking at the high school, it may be difficult to find a parking space. It may be easier to park your car at the Senior Center. It is only a short walk to the high school, giving you a chance to get some needed exercise. Any senior who wishes to attend and cannot walk or drive to the Senior Center can call the center for a pickup, 658-2258 or 657-7595. Please remember if you are a shut-in receiving a delivery of a meal or having one served at the high school, it is absolutely necessary to call the day before the meal is to be served or the Friday for the following week. We cannot make reservations for you the day the meal is to be served.

Wilmington senior topics

Social closed out

The therapeutic social for September has been closed out. If you wish to attend, it will be necessary to place your name on the waiting list. If you have signed up and cannot attend please call us in time to allow another senior on the waiting list to attend.

Activity programs

All the activity programs have resumed this week. We have been asked whether we are going to have a dance class this year. The price of a dance teacher is very expensive for an hour of instruction. Last year we hired one and the seniors would not even pay $1.00 toward the cost of the lesson. We will not hire a teacher this year. All the seniors who enjoy an afternoon of dancing may use the function room for their pleasure. You may select any afternoon except Monday or Friday. Thanks to the superintendent of buildings Roy McClanahan the dance floor has been refinished and looks beautiful.

Whist party Sept. 21

Because of the holiday and the Council on Aging meeting the whist will be held Monday, Sept. 21, starting at 1 p.m. We thank the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs for donating prizes for the whist games.

Arts and crafts fair

The arts and crafts fall fair is coming up fast. We will need many articles this year. We need all kinds of knitted articles especially mittens of all sizes for children, men and women, baby clothes, all kinds of craft articles, embroidery, crochet, needlepoint, sewed, wooden, metal and Christmas decorations. We need your help.

Jobs posted

Many jobs are coming into the Senior Center. They are posted on the bulletin board. If you would like to accept a job but think it may cause you to lose part of your Social Security check, this year if you are under 65 you can earn up to $6,000 without effecting your Social Security benefits. If you are 65 and older you may earn up to $8160 and if you are 70 and older there is no limit to what you can earn, and you will still receive your full Social Security check.

Kaufman statue honors musician Claude Debussy

Next Friday evening a statue is to be unveiled at Lowell University. It will honor Claude Debussy, one of the great musicians of the past century.

The sculptor is Mico Kaufman, of Tewksbury, one of the great sculptors of the present century. He is a man who studies, thoroughly, the life and history of any person he proposes to sculpt. Somehow that intense study gets translated into his work.

Three weeks ago he was asked to say a few words, at the Tewksbury Rotary Club. His few words, in his soft spoken dialect, were a delight to any person who likes serious music.

Born in 1862, in modest circumstances in France, Claude Achille Debussy lived during the two great wars between Prussia and France - The Franco Prussian War (1870) and the First World War (1914-18). He died in 1918 as World War I neared its end.

He was encouraged to study piano by an aunt, who paid for his music lessons, and later, a god-father of better means helped him along.

By the age of 12 he worked as a pianist.

The "in thing" for those who could afford it, in those days, was to have an "in-house musician."

A wealthy lady, Von Mock, a widow with 11 children, engaged Debussy as her "in house" musical nanny. The adolescent Debussy spent a couple of summers travelling through Imperial Russia in the Von Mock retinue.

He learned first-hand about the world to which he was catering. Enconced in medieval castles, his gentle employers staged plays, and make-believe nymphs converted around fairy tale fountains. Anything that affluence could buy was there, to enhance life.

Along with a disdain for his wealthy seasonal employers Claude Debussy acquired a taste for the finer things, and some yen for the good life. He did not, however, manage to acquire the necessary where-with-all to go with that taste. His life was one in which he was ever-in-need. He worked at the editing of music written by others, and wrote many a note to his publisher friends, requesting emergency loans, or abjectly begging for more time to pay off old debts.

A serious student of music, Claude Debussy won the coveted "Prix de Rome." In Rome his musical horizons widened, but not for being at the Conservatory.

Tired of constant subservience to the classic music precepts, Debussy rebelled. He thus made life-long enemies of the illustrious and powerful academic guardians of the "good music," Saint-Saens being one of them.

Debussy composed music inspired by nature, with influences from the old, and from oriental music. He broke away from tonality (the dominant seven). He composed totally new music. Among the better known accomplishments were "The Afternoon of the Fawn," the "Nocturnes," "La Mer," and "Peleas et Melissande" (an opera).

There was an irony to this. With his music Debussy freed the French from the music of Wagner. The French critics were negative about his music and the French people did not like it either. The British loved it!

A married man, Debussy fell in love with the wife of a banker, Emma Bardac. In 1904 they ran off to the Island of Jersey, off the coast of France, and then to England.

"La Mer," started the year before; in France, was finished in England, two years after they eloped.

Debussy had few friends among his fellow artists. He shied away from the plethora of composers, musicians and "would be friends," persons whom he considered to be potential emulators. This may possibly explain why there was not a Debussy School.

His unfriendly attitude toward imitators was compensated by an unbridled enthusiasm for the original of his time - Igor Stravinsky, the Russian composer who had made his debut in the Western World at the age of 28. His landmark work was "Firebird."

Primitivism was the orientation of all art in that period. Debussy seemed to have recognized that Stravinsky had synthesized his own need to bring the primitivism of man into the consciousness of music. But Debussy had, himself, run out of time.

At the time that Debussy produced his compositions "Jeux," Stravinsky, 20 years his junior, had "The Rite of Spring." With that work he scored a bull's eye in a complete break with the world of music as it was then known.

Debussy was eclipsed, but enthusiastic.

What was the reaction of the French, to Stravinsky?

His friends had to hustle poor Igor out a window, to save him from being mauled by an enraged audience.

To speak of Stravinsky is to give a person the sense of Debussy, a man who was selfless where music was concerned. Debussy, who was a close friend of the Russian Stravinsky, wrote:

"He is the spoiled child who sticks his finger up the music's nose. He is also like a young savage, who kisses women's hands while stepping on their feet.

As an old man he will be insufferable. That is, he will not suffer any music at all. For now, he is unprecedented."

So was Debussy. Debussy died of cancer. His years of suffering had not stopped him from composing.

His hold on women was hypnotic. His first wife continued to attend all performances of Debussy's music. His second wife, while penurious, had his body exhumed from Pere Lachaise and reinterred at Cemetery DePassy, to have him near where she lived. She continued her visits to his tomb throughout her life. Neither woman remarried.

The funeral procession of "Debussy de France" was attended by only a few friends. Most of his friends were at the front, fighting the Germans, a people whom he despised.

The funeral took place during a fierce bombardment. The pall bearers had to move fast. As the casket was being placed on the hearse, two women were in the doorway, watching the proceedings. One of them commented: "They say he was a musician."

A friend of Mico, a musician, and an enthusiast of Debussy, asked Mico: "Did you know that the French do not have a monument to their greatest composer?"

"That" said Mico, "did it."

That remark brought Mico Kaufman into the world of Debussy.

The pedestal of the statue he has sculpted is an integral part of the sculpture. It is a scene from "The Afternoon of a Faun." On the backside is a scene from "Peleas et Melissande," at the top Debussy lords over, in a favored stance, while froth and waves lap at his lapels. The whole statue is over six feet high.

It will be unveiled at 5 p.m. Friday, in the south quadrangle of Lowell University.

Further info sought on flood plain impact

by Arlene Surprenant

Afraid of the impact of building so close to the 100 year flood line without compensating storage, the Wilmington Conservation Commission last week asked engineer Larry Beals to provide alternate design plans and further calculations.

Beals, who represents Northeast Real Estate Inc., proposes to build four homes on 23 acres off Concord Street. At Wednesday's Wetlands Protection Act hearing, only one of the lots was under discussion.

Beals assured members he will not be working in bordering vegetated wetlands and he will employ retaining walls and an erosion control barrier. He said he also intends to preserve as much vegetation as possible. The site contains 17 acres of wetlands.

Members noted the engineer may be working on top of the flood line, something which would require further calculations for runoff and water storage. When Beals said he was unaware he was in a flood plain, Tom Roussell explained the elevation on their maps showed he was very close.

Member Don Ugolini pointed out that other developers have had to meet the board's concerns.

"You've got to make us feel comfortable according to the regulations that everything's going to work," he said, explaining that several homes on nearby Federal Street are regularly flooded during heavy rains. The commission is trying to avoid this happening by requiring storage areas for additional water, members said.

"We will do as the board wishes," said Beals. However, he added, there may be some problems in redesigning the driveway since the original plan was already endorsed by the planning board. Members agreed to an on-site visit before their next meeting with the engineer.

In other business, the board held two other hearings and made a Determination.

Bernard Paquin, engineer for Tambone Corporation, explained his plans to construct an additional two industrial buildings on Research Drive off Ballardvale Street.

Commission members seemed a little concerned with increased water runoff from one lot to the other, but were assured a series of five ponds would control the situation. Paquin told the board though there will be some filling of wetlands, he intends to replicate those areas.

Conservation Administrator Libby Sabounjian urged the owners to take more "vigilant care" with some of the siltation fence which was in disrepair. Overall, the board was pleased with the professional presentation and the work done on site in the past.

Engineer Ken Miller represented Rose and Leland Jackson on a Determination to construct a home on Wildwood Street. Despite the fact that some members felt it was a weak filing and more information was needed because of the site's proximity to the wetlands, Roussell moved for a negative Determination allowing construction to begin before winter. The board agreed.

Reply filed on Environmental Notification Form

by Arlene Surprenant

The 20-day period for public comment on the Environmental Notification Form for Jay Tighe's Shawshen River Estates has closed. Among the comments filed was one by Michael Roache of Bailey Road.

In commenting on the Environmental Notification Form, Roache brought out that the proposed sewer hookup to the project may not be in accordance with the Wilmington sewer commissioner's Master Plan. Roache works for the town's engineering consultants Fay, Spofford, and Thorndike.

In a letter to Nancy Baker of MEPA, Roache said since the Master Plan pipe sizes and allowable capacities were developed based on current in place zoning (R60), a tie-in to such a dense project would not be in keeping with the plan. Roache questioned what measures would be taken to avoid depletion of the sewer capacity for the entire area so there would not be "insufficient capacity" when the time comes for nearby residents to connect to the municipal system.

Two other areas of concern, according to Roache, are traffic counts taken when the two closest schools were reportedly closed, and the impact of an article on the special town meeting warrant asking voters to rezone the rest of the milk farm property to R10.

Roache told Baker the two schools "are major contributors to a.m. and p.m. peak hour traffic volumes in the area and any project traffic impacts must be developed with these traffic generators included."

Roache also points out that since the ENF indicates that "the remaining portion of the parcel will remain in agricultural use," special attention should be paid to what occurs at September's special town meeting.

"The proponents should be required to address the traffic, sewer, drainage, and other impacts of the subject project with a 'full build out' of the adjacent land," he said.

In conclusion, Roache asked that an Environmental Impact Report be required for the proposal, adding that "the proposed project is in no way consistent with present planning and zoning requirements of the Town of Wilmington."

Suzanne Doucette Rude

Vt. State Public Service Board

Suzanne Doucette Rude, formerly of Wilmington, has been appointed by Vermont Governor Madeleine M. Kunin to a key position on the Vermont State Public Service Board.

Suzanne, 31, a graduate of Wilmington High School (1973), served as special counsel for financial analysis with the Vermont Department of Public Service, will now fill the seat vacated last month when Governor Kunin named member Richard A. Cowart to the chairmanship of the three-member regulatory commission that oversees Vermont utilities.

Suzanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Doucette, moved to Vermont in 1981 to study and work as a teaching and research assistant in finance, economics and statistics at the University of Vermont's School of Business. In 1982, she served as economic and financial consultant and research

Governor Kunin said of Rude's appointment last week, "Suzanne Rude brings very strong credentials to the Public Service Board. She has an extraordinary grasp of economic questions and a proven ability to analyze the complex issues facing the Board. I am confident she will be both tough and fair in guaranteeing that Vermont consumers are protected."

Suzanne earned a Bachelor of Science degree at McGill University in Montreal in 1977. In 1983, she was awarded a Master's degree in Business Administration by the University of Vermont.

For business and industry

New rental service

Businessmen and businesswomen located north of Boston now have access to a shared-tenant service that is like a home away from home. The popularity of the "total office" concept is spreading across the country and the Executive Exchange Complex, Inc. in Wilmington offers this to people who want to minimize the expenses incurred in opening up an office while maximizing on each dollar spent.

The philosophy behind this three year old company is to "find a need and fill it." Bernice Hamer, the owner of Executive Exchange takes pride in the fact that her staff responds to the needs of the business people.

Located at 155 West Street, Wilmington, the executive Exchange Complex, Inc., provides an individual with a fully furnished office, full-time receptionist and secretarial staff, state of the art computerized telephone system which can accommodate a company name in literally minutes, a conference and seminar room, ample parking and additional services depending upon an individual's needs. Renting an office at this complex is a cost-effective alternative to renting or leasing space and then having to purchase all of the equipment and staff the office as well!

In addition to renting a full time office, Executive Exchange offers an "occasional office" for individuals who need an office for an hour or two or find themselves in need of a conference room or seminar room occasionally.

The current tenants at Executive Exchange are a very diverse group. They range from large companies based in other parts of the country that need sales offices; self-employed individuals who find it a distraction to work from their homes and manufacturers' representatives as well as those recently breaking into the over-seas market.

Informing the public of this service is a difficult but important task. The service offered by Executive Exchange can literally save all professionals a great deal of time and money. If you would like to find out more about this fast-growing concept, please feel free to contact Arlene Perrotti, manager or Zulekha Shamsi, marketing director at 270-3700.

MVC football preview

Redmen will contend; Wildcats can improve

by Rick Cooke
Sports Editor

I can hear the grumblings and rumblings all the way up Route 38. There he goes again, picking Tewksbury for first and Wilmington for the bottom of the Merrimack Valley Conference pack.

Truth be told, the Redmen could finish at least two or three rungs below that top spot, while the Wildcats could easily gain respectability and escape the basement in 1987.

Having played MVC football for three years and covered the league for another 14 seasons, I think that I know something about the brand of football they play in these parts.

They play good, balanced football, and this conference is one of the toughest in the state. Any one of eight teams could win the championship this season, but the legitimate contenders appear to be Tewksbury, Andover, Lowell and Dracut, with Chelmsford, Methuen and Haverhill just a half step away from that elite foursome.

Tewksbury Redmen

The Redmen (8-2-0) were just two points away from their second consecutive undefeated season and a third trip to the Division Two Super Bowl.

Despite a tough 1987 schedule and the graduation of running backs Tim Boudreau and Kenn Coviello along with their best defensive player in Brian Aylward, the Redmen will be contenders again thanks to a solid nucleus of veterans led by senior quarterback Jay Rideout (6-0, 170).

Rideout threw for 12 touchdowns a year ago, and learned more about the game than he cared to in the 15-14 loss to Andover. Jay is an all-star caliber quarterback and could give the Redmen that needed push to the top of the tough MVC pack.

Rideout returns to the TMHS offense along with tackle (and defensive end) Dan Britten (6-5, 245), guard Brian French (5-10, 180) and junior receiver Tom Aylward (5-11, 170) who will double in the defensive backfield.

The real key to Tewksbury's run at the top will be the development of a defense that will miss not only Brian Aylward but fellow grads Mike Fitzpatrick (nose tackle), Dave French (linebacker), Brian Donahue (tackle) and Jay Kelley (defensive end).

Two key people will be tough senior defensive back John Cho (5-11, 175) and end Dave McSweeney (6-0, 195).

If there is a major gap to be filled at Tewksbury it is at the linebacker positions. Over the past two seasons, several underclassmen have stepped forward and played well. That will have to be the case again this season if the Redmen are to contend.

The other returning lettermen for TMHS who are expected to contribute are all seniors with the exception of junior guard and linebacker Tom Canarelli.

The returning seniors include tight end Scott DeVivo, tackle Jim Davis, linebacker-guard Scott Niles and center-tackle Jason Voto.

Wilmington Wildcats

Everyone, including head coach Ed Harrison, wants to avoid a repeat of last year's miserable 0-10-0 season. Ten lopsided losses is nobody's idea of fun, and the Wildcats worked hard in the offseason to get back to respectability.

Senior quarterback Dan Woods (5-11, 155) leads a large group of returning veterans with a burning desire to win some games. On offense those vets include tackle C.J. Barber (6-1, 210), receiver Mark Palmisano (5-9, 160), running back Pat Nally (5-11, 180), guard Tim Fay (6-2, 190), tight end Steve Hanafin (6-0, 180) and guard John Rago (5-7, 180).

Woods was the best quarterback that any winless team could have a year ago, and with some support this season Dan could really light it up.

Defensively, the leaders will be safety Tony DeLucia (5-10, 155), linebacker Sean Costello (5-9, 165), cornerback Dan Cadigan

MVC preview

Wilmington braintrust (l-r) Dan Woods, Eddie Harrison and Jim Tildsley hope to avert another winless season, while (bottom) Jay Rideout and coach Bob Aylward shoot for the top spot.

(5-7, 155), cornerback Don Sullivan (5-4, 130), end Butch McGovern (5-11, 200), tackle Jeff Boutwell (5-11, 250) and punter Dick Hersom (5-10, 170).

Other returning Wildcat lettermen will be juniors Joe Spencer (back) and Kevin Brennan (back) along with seniors Derek LeBlanc (linebacker) and Dave Feyler (center).

The Wildcat keys will be the development of a defense and the avoidance of injuries, since most every starting player will be seeing action both offensively and defensively.

Pop Warner set for busy weekend

The Wilmington Pop Warner football program kickoff the 1987 season with a series of activities starting Saturday, Sept. 12, when all teams will report to the July 4th Building at 9:30 a.m.

Teams will be transported by bus to the Lawrence Vocational School for the official weigh-in. All players are required to make this weigh-in.

After the weigh-in, the teams will be returned by bus to participate in the sticker drive to be held from 1 until 4 p.m.

Volunteer drivers are needed to take the players and the cheerleaders around town where locations for the sticker drive have been planned.

Anyone who can donate a few hours to transport the youngsters for this drive, please contact Jack Holloway at 657-8685.

Various streets and shopping malls will be visited Saturday for the sticker drive.

Stickers supporting Pop Warner Football are $1.00 each. Hot dogs and tonic will be provided to the children during the drive, or by late noon.

On September 13, Sunday, all teams will play their first game of the 1987 season at the Wilmington High School sports field. Times for these games will be announced this week to all players at practice.

Other activities will include an equipment issue of shirts and pants for players. Reporting time will be 6:30 p.m. on September 10. Parents should make sure their children show up for their equipment at the July 4 Building on Thursday night.

On Friday night, Sept. 11, a dance will be held for the Pop Warner Football program.

Children eight to 14 years old are invited. Tickets will be $3.00 each. The dance will be from 7:30 to 10:30 at Villanova Hall, St. Thomas Church.

Tickets go on sale at the Glen Road practice field (Town Hall) from 6 to 8 p.m.

Volunteer chaperones are needed for this dance. Parents interested in helping out, please contact Jack Virtus at 658-9707.

Pole raiser

Contractor John Garrett watches one of 12 new light poles go up at the Glen Road School last week.

Upcoming events for Pop Warner Football are a candy sale drive and a bottle and can drive. The candy sale will be held Sept. 21 to Oct. 1.

Volunteers to transport the children for this effort are needed. Call Jack Virtus at 658-9707. The bottle and can drive will be held Saturday, Oct. 17. It will be a one day effort.

Volunteers with small trailers, pickup trucks or station wagons are needed. Please call Jack Virtus at 658-9707 if you can support the children in this drive.

Pop Warner Football would like to remind everyone that food and beverages are on sale each night at the Glen Road Sports Field during game practice from 6 to 8.

Also at the Glen Road field, a new lineup of modern 50 foot light poles has been installed by a local contractor, John Garrett.

Mr. Garrett donated time, labor, and materials to install and wire 12 light poles in support of the Pop Warner football program.

Wilmington residents who want additional information on the activities of the Pop Warner Football Program can call Jack Holloway at 657-8685.

Sports deadline

The Town Crier sports deadline is Monday night at 6 p.m. Any high school or youth sports copy received after that deadline will not be included in that week's sports section.

Area coaches are reminded that schedules and team rosters are always helpful in scheduling photo assignments. Any story tips will be followed up and appreciated.

Cross members

There are two methods of attaching the cross members to the poles. Jack Keating and Len Howard opted for the method whereby both feet remain planted on the ground and the pole is raised with the cross member in place.

D and D clinches title

D and D Services made short work of their recent Wilmington Softball League Town Division championship series, sweeping Northeast Development in three straight games for the title.

The 7-6 clincher last week was sparked by Jim Litwinski, who had three hits and scored the winning run and Joe Burbine with a double and a single with the bases loaded in the top of the seventh that drove in the winning run.

Bob Woods also helped the winning cause with a three-run homer and Bob Aprile rapped an RBI double for the champs.

The ND leaders were Peter Swan (triple, two runs scored), John Smith (RBI double) and Joe Simmons (RBI single).

Jim Crowley pitched the clinching victory over Bob Noel.

McNamara Tire clinched the Over-35 title with an 8-2 victory over Joe Barry Oil. That victory gave the champs an impressive 16-2 record for the season.

Wally Neal pitched a four-hitter for the clincher, getting solid stick support from Frank Ingram (single, two-run homer).

Tom Robichaud rapped a two-run single for Joe Barry, while Paul Bova helped the cause with a run scoring double. Frank Stone was the losing pitcher.

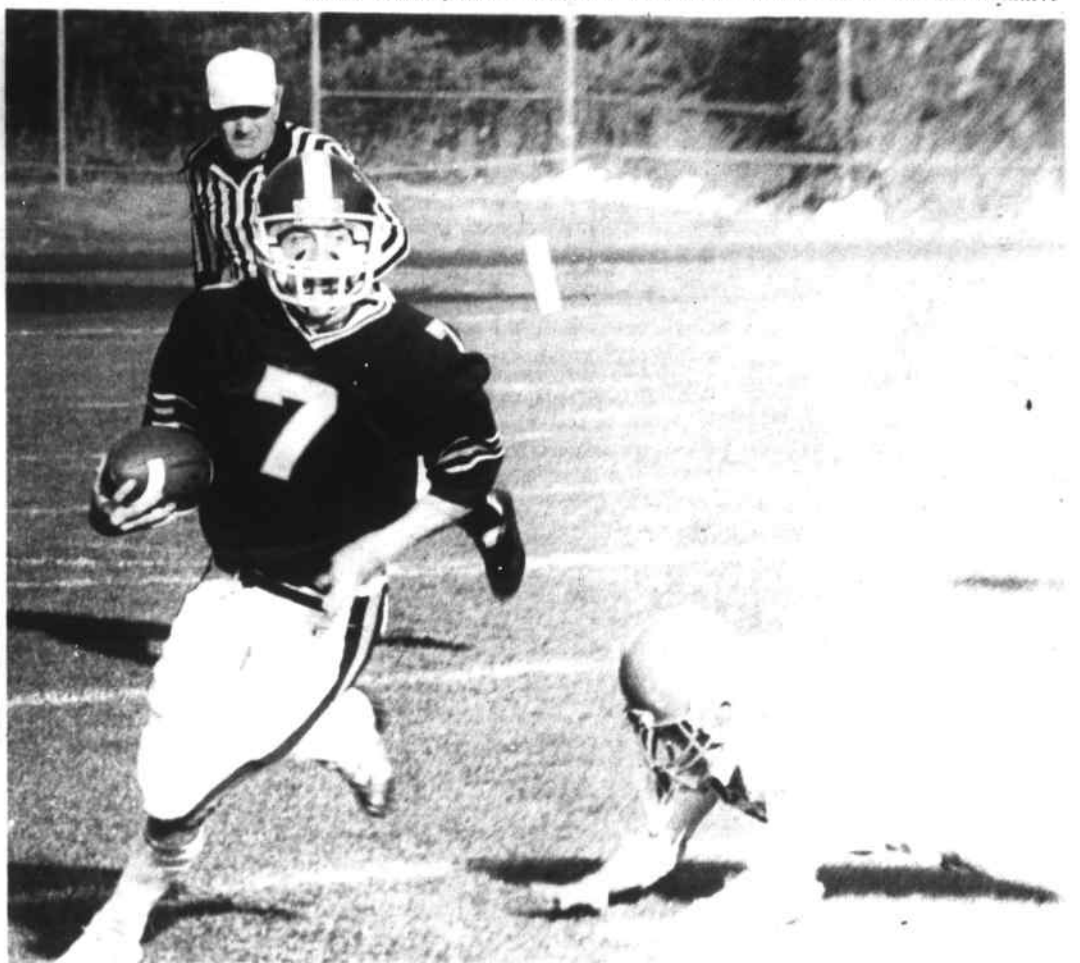

Joe Barry Oil put up a good fight in the final series however, scoring a 5-1 victory over Charlie's Auto Body behind Frank Stone's six-hitter and the offense provided by Dennis Demaggio (two hits), Robichaud, Gene Dussault and Willie Whalen with RBI singles.

Rusty Heubner slapped three hits for Charlie's, followed by Ted Wicks with an RBI single. Jim Hachey was the losing pitcher.

Outdoors Column

by Bill Conlon

Once upon a time, hunting was simple. All you had to do was stroll into your neighboring woods and fill your game bag. As for sitting through a formal hunter safety class, who needed it?

Nowadays, you do!

In Massachusetts, you can't go hunting alone between the ages of 15 and 17 unless you've completed a hunter safety course or you can show an earlier hunting license.

Even as an adult, most of these United States and many provinces of Canada won't allow you to purchase a hunting license unless you can whip out a certificate to show that you've been through a registered hunter safety course. Simply put, you need that card.

And there's a few good reasons, too! Land is growing scarce these days, making it more difficult to hunt in safety. Carrying a gun has always been dangerous, no matter what the century, and a safety class is cheap insurance.

Even more important is the issue of "slob" hunters. These geeks are the ones who litter, shoot whatever moves no matter the season or bag limits, and pay no attention to the rules of safely handling firearms. If the only upshoot of hunter safety instruction is to make slob hunters a thing of the past, so be it and good riddance.

Volunteer instructor George Rost at Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club summed it up well by declaring, "The future of hunting is in hunter safety." This most ancient of sports is drawing criticism from too many quarters now, and the best answer is to train hunters to be the best they can be.

Hunter safety classes are now taking place in a bunch of New England towns, in preparation for the upcoming hunting seasons. It's almost too late to complete the class before the guns of autumn begin their song, but a few more classes will be starting soon.

(Sorry if this got out a bit late, but the class at Tewksbury Rod & Gun started last Thursday. Almost 150 future hunters signed up, making TR&G's one of the biggest hunter safety classes in Massachusetts!)

According to Caroline Woolner, public information officer with the state Environmental Police, classes will be taking place at the following locations:

- Concord Rod & Gun Club, Sept. 12 until Oct. 3; from 9 a.m. until noon at the clubhouse on Strawberry Hill Road.
- Danvers Fish & Game Club, Sept. 12 to Oct. 10; 8 to 10:30 a.m. at the clubhouse on Logbridge Road (off Route 114 near the Middleton town line) and
- In Haverhill, with class dates of Sept. 29 and October 6, 8, 13, 15 and 20. (All dates are for a single class.) The class will run from 7 to 9 p.m. on those dates at the Whittier Regional Voke school on Amesbury Line Road, off Rt. 110.

Another class will be forming up soon in Westford, but no date is available yet. Sign-ups for all the above classes will be taken at the door. Just show up and you're in.

The class, by the way, is a gem. Topics covered include types of firearms, lead vs. steel shot, game identification and tracking, and a host of other outdoors topics. The centerpiece, naturally, is the safe handling of all sorts of firearms. Expect to get the drilled on the Commandments of Gun Safety.

Best of all -- hunter safety classes are free of charge, courtesy of the Environmental Police. The game wardens are only too happy to teach the classes, and perhaps save themselves from having to write out a few tickets for bad hunting skills.

So take the hunter safety class. It's fun, it's informative, it's free, and in most states, it's the law.

-- Tackle Box --

Looks like a busy weekend ahead. The Tewksbury Rod & Gun club annual outing will be this Sunday, Sept. 13, at the group's HQ on Chandler Street. There will be a pig roast, barbeque and flea market on the club's spacious grounds.

Also on Sunday, look for the Greater Lowell Fly Fisher's bass-only tournament on the Merrimack River running from 7 a.m. until the final weigh-in at 2 p.m. Fishing will be allowed between Duck Island and the N.H. state line, and only bass will take the cash prizes. The entry fee is $10 and there'll be bait and such at the derby headquarters at the public boat launch across from Heritage Ice Cream.

S.W.E.A.T. will be holding an unusual meeting this Monday, Sept. 14, at the Tewksbury Rod & Gun clubhouse at 7:30 p.m. Invitations are being sent to all landowners along the Shawsheen River, in hopes of getting restrictions placed to prevent over-development from damaging the riverfront. A slide show of the river will be presented, along with refreshments.

Volunteers are still needed for the Sept. 19 S.W.E.A.T. clean-up of the Shawsheen. Call 858-3733.

Speaking of S.W.E.A.T., long-time club officer Bobby LeBoeuf is trying out for a position on the Mass. Environmental Police force. Best of luck to Bob -- he'd make a good "game warden," to use the old-fashioned term.

My apologies to Mike in Wilmington for having stated that every Massachusetts deer hunter should be able to hit a 5-inch circle at 100 yards with shotgun slugs. Mike took me to task for making such a claim and challenged me to prove it on the shooting range. While I humbly submit that I can't quite meet his challenge, we both agreed that hunters should be as accurate with their chosen guns as possible. Wounding an animal is a horrible thing to do.

(Then again, maybe a pie plate at 100 yards is more realistic.)

Youth Soccer awards night

The Tewksbury Youth Soccer League will hold its awards night Monday, Sept. 14 at Tewksbury Junior High School beginning at seven.

On that night trophies will be presented to the intramural champions, Roughnecks (under 14), Dynamos (under 12), and Drillers (under 10). Also presentations will be made to the traveling teams that qualified for tournament play - boys under 14A, boys under 14B, and girls under 14.

Registration

Registration for soccer for next spring for all ages (five-18 as of Jan 1, 1988) will be held at Tewksbury Town Hall on the following dates:

Thurs., Sept. 17, Fri., Sept. 18, Wed., Sept. 23, Thurs., Sept. 24 from 7 to 9 p.m. and Sat., Sept. 26 from 9 a.m. to noon. The registration fee is $20.00.

Sara Elizabeth!

A family's souvenir from Bogota

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

A remarkably short journey of some 6,000 miles which began more than two years ago has just come to an end — and a beginning. Sara Elizabeth Cooper — now five months old, formerly of Bogota, Colombia — has come home to her parents Susan Brone and Rick Cooper of Reading. Actually, the trip took only seven days and the whole family traveled the 3,000 miles home together.

Becoming first-time parents, according to Cooper, made the pre-adoption process all the more significant and the adoption itself all the more wonderful. During a time when adoption stories seem to make headlines only when things go wrong, Sara's story provides a refreshing portrait of what can happen when things go right — which is, in reality, most of the time.

"We were taking a tour of the orphanage through which our agency works and we were waiting to continue when suddenly someone came in with a baby who looked familiar — such a sweet delicate-looking baby — and it was Sara," says Brone. "Getting her was magical."

The Coopers started thinking about adoption around a year and a half ago, read as much as they could about it, investigated agencies and found themselves at the annual conference of the Massachusetts Open Door Society, a support group of almost 1,000 adoptive families. Brone and Cooper agree that seeing so many families made them much more comfortable with the idea of international adoption. So they continued researching and discontinued the fertility testing which in most cases directly precedes the decision to adopt.

"During the infertility work-up, I felt we were going through certain hardships with no sense of whether they were going to pay off," says Cooper. "All the efforts and discomforts didn't seem to guarantee any reward."

"We didn't go through the extensive infertility testing that a lot of people do," Brone adds. "We did not feel that we wanted to go through prolonged treatments or heroics. We just wanted a child."

Although concerned at first about how they could possibly select an agency or country, they found that many choices soon became obvious or were made for them. Agencies themselves present different philosophies in the general information meetings which couples must first attend. Throughout the world, poverty and life crises create the need for boys and girls of every age to find adoptive families; individual governments regulate that need; love answers it.

The Coopers decided against an out-of-state agency and an identified adoption where the parents or a lawyer locate an infant. Instead they went for what they considered "a sure thing, maybe a little slower but a lot safer." They wanted to deal with any potential problems — legal or medical — right away, rather than let them slide by quickly only to come back later. They chose the method that fit their personalities, an international adoption "reasonably expeditious, yet quite secure."

Brone, age 38 and Cooper, 35½ have now been married just three years. As they looked into various programs, their options became clearer. Korean regulations require that couples be married at least three years before they start the adoption process and that parents be under 40 to be eligible for an infant. Other countries have other rules which sometimes change during the course of an adoption.

ROVING dan ferullo A meeting with Robert Mitchum

FM TALK: Our far-flung correspondent's cornucopia of thoughts for this week:

As many of you readers know, this columnist has been reporting from Newport, R.I., for most of the summer. You'll be happy to learn that my sailing is improving dramatically. We've run aground only once, as you may have read in a two-part sailing piece which appeared in this space several weeks ago, and only once have we managed to get stuck out at sea in a bad storm. Not too shabby for our first full summer of sailing.

A few notes on Newport: we had a chance to speak with actor Robert Mitchum, who is starring in "Mr. North," the Thornton Wilder story set in the heyday of the Newport jazz era.

He was hanging out at Christie's, one of Newport's hottest restaurants and jazz bars. Christie's features an outdoor patio bar with live entertainment during the afternoons as well as evenings, and you'll find a couple hundred happy folks dancing away even at two in the afternoon.

While on the subject of entertainment spots in Newport, here are a few others you might want to hit if you can make it down there soon: the Black Pearl (great chowder, kids, and the best outdoor hotdog stand in the world!); the Candy Store (this is where you'll find the locals hanging out); the Wharf (best raw bar in town); the Mooring (this is the place to hit for a romantic dinner); Astor's (also a good spot for a fancy dinner affair); Gatsby's (it's the only dance club to visit that doesn't remind you of Boston); One Pelham Street (great live rock bands and a separate atrium, if you prefer the music less deafening); the Ark (young crowd, but a lot of fun); and the Starboard Tack (all locals).
Been asked to say hello to a few people, so here goes: "Hellos" go out to Paula, the adorable bartender at the Starboard Tack, who takes good care of the captain and the crew after our Sunday sails; Michael, the bartender at Astor's, who won't let A.J. and me forget the night we tore up the Inn on the Harbor; Dorothy, who hangs out at Gatsby's; Dave, the bartender at One Pelham Street, who's looking for a captain who needs a crewman for a sail to the islands this winter; Amorette, who frequents the Candy Store; and all the girls who like to whoop it up on the patio at Christie's on Sunday afternoon. I'd especially like to say hello to that gorgeous blonde bartender at One Pelham Street who bought me a triple Sambuca last Sunday night and then disappeared. I never finished the drink, and I never got a chance to say thanks. So thanks.

One final note: I've enjoyed my summer as a boat bum. I just wish the summer of '87 didn't have to end. Sure, we'll be sailing right through the month of October, but we'll miss those beauties whom we fell madly in love with and who have all returned to school. Well, there's always next summer. In the meantime, to keep ourselves from getting depressed, we'll just have to think about falling in love with French ballet dancers in Montreal this winter. Yeah, that's the ticket!

Moving on: For some reason I've received a lot of response to that piece I recently wrote on "turning distinguished-looking" (I refuse to use the term "old-looking"). One of those responses came from my own father, who related a funny incident on the same topic which occurred to him at a McDonald's in Merrimac, N.H., where both my parents now reside. My father has been frequenting this particular McDonald's for morning coffee for some time. Recently the young girl behind the counter mentioned to my father that senior citizens can pour their own coffee from a separate pot free of charge. My father chuckled at the idea, then opted to continue to pay the fifty-nine cents. Apparently, having the young girl pour it for him and then paying for it makes him feel like he's still forty-seven. Good for you, dad.

A fellow who may have trouble paying for his coffee is another great and good buddy of ours, Mark Smith, who lives in Woburn and will be opening the new Pontiac-GMC truck dealership in that city soon. The dealership will be called Mark Pontiac-GMC Trucks, and it'll be located on Cabot Road. When he finally gets it opened, stop by and say hello. But don't mention I told you. He's not going to have nice things to say about me when he finds out I've told half the world he can't afford to pay for a cup of coffee! Actually, Mark is one of the greatest, most generous cats around. If he does half for Woburn what he did for his home town in New York, then Woburn's got a lot to look forward to. This cat is one of the most civic-minded fellows this columnist has ever met.

Channel 7 has recently begun an editorial spot entitled Bravos and Boos. Well, I've got one for them: bravo for the idea of a talent search for the new Lottery Live host; boo for Sy Yanoff's selection. She's got a lot of beauty, but she comes across like a mouse. Channel 7 should let channel 5 do their hiring.

"Say No"

EMBR has anti-drug program

The Realtor Community Service Committee of the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors initiated an anti-drug "Say No" program aimed at teen and pre-teenaged youngsters in the local communities. Priscilla Fitzgerald of North Reading is the committee Chairman. Participants who volunteered their time and energy are Realtors from the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors. The members are: David Conte, Stoneham; Donna Regis, Wakefield; Susan Mahoney, Wilmington; Wes Beckett and Dick Elliott, Stoneham; Eileen Hamlin, Melrose; Elizabeth Gardner,

North Reading; Carol Marrano, Stoneham;

A music video was produced by this group with music adapted from lyrics written by children in the Junior High Schools. A contest was held in January 1987 throughout the school system and the winning entrants were awarded U.S. Savings Bonds and Certificates of Merit from the Realtors at the March meeting of the EMBR.

The music video titled "Say No" was filmed in Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Wilmington and Woburn showing kids involved in recreational activities, really enjoying themselves while the "Say No" song is playing with its very important message.

As part of the program t-shirts with the "Say No" words were distributed to local children: Tod Miller, Chris Williams, Justin Kimes, Kafi Sanders and Robbie Campbell on July 29, at the Stoneham Boys Club with the help of staff members Paul Donovan, Judy Manigan, and Rick Flynn. The shirts were compliments of local Realtors: Carol Marrano of Carol Marrano Real Estate, Laura Hogan of Realty World Schmid, Dave Conte of U.S.A. Realty Associates, Wes Beckett & Dick Elliot of E. & B. Realty.

Sara Elizabeth: A Reading family's souvenir from Bogota

Chile and doing more research, the Coopers decided to work through Alliance for Children in Wellesley. Although they finally met Sara for the first time at an orphanage, she had actually been living in a foster home. They eventually chose Alliance because its Colombian program is fairly large and well-established and all its children under two live in foster homes. At the end of July, 1986, they were ready to send in their application.

"I really found that going through the adoption process was basically a positive experience even though we ended up waiting a bit longer than it first seemed we would," says Cooper. "It took some time to accept the idea of going through adoption as a plan because it wasn't what we originally had in mind. After accepting the idea that we may never have a biological offspring, it was a tremendous relief to realize that what we invested in adoption would give us a fairly certain, safe return.

"The adoption always felt very good," he continues. "We had to be patient and wait, to get some documents together, and wait some more. The meetings with the social worker were not intrusive — we didn't feel like we were being grilled or scrutinized or judged. In fact, our social worker was part of what made the experience pleasant. She was very supportive."

As it would be for any parents and their child, Sara's physical condition was very important to the Coopers. Long before her arrival, they looked for a pediatric practice with physicians readily available and highly experienced in dealing with children from other countries; they found that practice in Woburn.

Sara was born on March 27, 1987 and they received her photo 10 days later. They gathered and validated more documents; dropped the entire packet off with another adoptive parent on the way down to Colombia to pick up his own baby; then they waited again. More photos and medical updates arrived and to their relief, each medical report from Colombia made it clear that everything was completely normal. At last, a meeting about the trip took place at Alliance.

Nowadays, it's not that uncommon for people to attend a baby shower knowing that the baby is going to be a boy or a girl. What is still unusual, however, is a shower where everyone can look at pictures of the baby and that's what Broner's shower was like — in June.

Broner is a clinical social worker with a psychotherapy/counseling practice in Reading. On June 26th, while she was at work, the phone call came — giving the go-ahead to fly to Colombia. Cooper, a psychiatrist, had planned to accompany her so they could devote part of their stay to learning about their daughter's native country — now a vital part of their own family heritage. On July 4th, they flew to Colombia to meet their daughter — less than one year after formally applying for a child.

ture will be a terrific restaurant chain based in Chicago. The restaurant is called Morton's, and it's your basic steak house, except the food is better than average and the portions are almost embarrassingly large. They are also known for their noisy, active bars. They couldn't have a better location to attract clientele. That area of the Back Bay is the hottest section of Boston.

If you don't believe us when we tell you the Back Bay is hot right now, consider this: the priciest condos in Boston are for sale at 200 Boylston Street. They are currently going for a cool three quarters of a million to $900,000! These are not the most expensive in the city, however. There is a condo at 22 Commonwealth Ave. (also a chic location in the Back Bay) that recently sold for a tidy $1,250,000. Among the new tenants in this building is Anthony Athanas, Jr., who recently paid a mere $750,000 for his little nest.

When it comes to beers these days, everything is a trend. Three years ago, it was Coors that was the hottest selling new beer. Then came Samuel Adams. Last year was Corona's turn as the beer to be seen drinking. Now there's a new beer on the market that is expected to be the hottest seller of all. It's called Lighthouse Beer, and it's being brewed and marketed by the Boston Beer Co., which also makes Samuel Adams. Lighthouse Beer is a full-bodied beer with just 98 calories, which should help to make it the best-selling beer in town very shortly. Jim Koch, owner of Boston Beer Co., recently held a taste test for the media at Durgin Park. Koch ran the risk of his beer not coming in first place, but as it turned out, Lighthouse won hands down. The reduced-calories beer also took first place at the 1987 Great American Beer Festival. We're sure to see the yuppie crowd climbing over the bar for this one soon.

And now a final word from Khalil Gibran: "My soul, living is like a courier of the night: the swifter the flight, the nearer the dawn."

Make it a great week!

Sharing is

including plane fare cost the Coopers approximately $9,500, the cost of a Colombian adoption can vary from family to family: most people need only stay four days to complete the necessary documents for the Colombian and American governments; it is possible for only one parent to make the trip; and many agencies determine their fees through a sliding scale based on family income.

The paperwork done, the child in their arms, they traveled back to Reading via U.S. Immigration in Miami, and a month later they have even more positive experiences to reflect upon — the delighted reactions of neighbors, friends and other adoptive parents; the loving support of grandparents and other family members. "Certainly, in our case, there haven't been any cool responses," says Cooper. "Even though this community is not highly racially and ethnically mixed compared to the city environment we were used to, neighbors and strangers respond very positively to Sara. People are either neutral or they're enthusiastic."

"The first time we told my parents, they were a little surprised that a decision had been made," he continues. "The next time we talked to them, they were starting to get excited. Now they're very excited about her. It doesn't seem like they could be more enthusiastic if she were born to us."

"My sister and both families and all our friends have been supportive and pleased and excited," adds Broner. "Some friends were even more enthusiastic and excited because it was an adoption."

How else will an adopted child change Broner's and Cooper's lives? Probably not much more than any first child would. They'll talk to Sara about adoption and about Colombia when the time seems right, in response to what she seems ready to handle. They'll expose her to Colombian culture as she's interested in it, perhaps cook some Colombian food, maybe visit there again someday. "There's nothing about the truth of the situation that we feel will have to be concealed," says Cooper. "Our plan is to respond to her curiosity, to attend adoptive families' functions that might stimulate it naturally so that it will all be familiar to her, in a matter-of-fact way."

What does Sara think of all this? We can only judge from her own enthusiastic reactions to everyone and everything around her, and her parents' interpretations of such. "She's basically a good roller and can even pick her destination," says Cooper. "She's also into grabbing glasses and she does drool. I could use three hands sometimes."

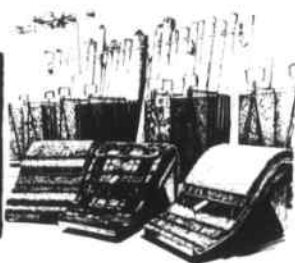

"She's a very sociable nice baby, curious and assertive," adds Broner. "She's been a pleasure. I can't imagine getting a nicer baby whether by birth or adoption in this country or whatever. We think she's wonderful."

And Sara? Snuggled comfortably into her father's arms, she gurgles, smiles, looks around, sighs contentedly, and closes her eyes.

Our most successful graduates are quitters and losers.

Over the years, we've helped hundreds of people from surrounding communities quit smoking or lose weight. One reason for our success (and theirs) is that, as a hospital, we understand the medical and emotional reasons behind a problem — so we can treat it more effectively. The other reason is our people. Graduates say they're the most professional, caring, and helpful staff they've ever encountered.

In addition to these and other courses, we also offer an innovative new program called HealthPath.™ Using the newest computer and medical technology, HealthPath can quickly assess your current health status and then develop a plan for improvement.

CHILDBIRTH EDUCATION

Childbirth Education of the North Shore announces the next 7-week Basic Labor Preparation series for those expecting a first baby will begin Thursday, September 17.

PARENT AIDE VOLUNTEERS

The Parent Aide Program at Catholic Family Services is seeking volunteers to work with some of the many parents in our community who are under constant stress.

These parents are trying to cope with the everyday difficulties and pressures of parenting without the usual support systems, friends, family backing and even knowledge about child care so many of us take for granted. Parent Aide volunteers act as role models, supportive "friends," understanding advocates and caring companions.

If you have a few hours a week to visit, to provide emotional support and to care about a parent who needs someone to listen, to understand to "be there" this may be the program for you.

For more information call Jean or Betsy at Catholic Family Services in Lynn at 593-2312 and in Reading at 942-0690 to find out about orientation, training and when the next program starts.

PEOPLE FOR PEACE

The next meeting of Reading People for Peace will be held on Sunday, September 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Austin Room at the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Reading (corner of Summer and Woburn streets).

The meeting is open to all.

TEMPLE TOTS

Temple Shalom Emeth is now holding registration for Temple Tots, an innovative social and support group for parents and children up to age 4. The 15-week sessions begin the week of Sept. 14th and are open to non-Temple members.

Trivia

If your baby naps with a bottle, fill it with water, not juice or formula. Juice and milk contain sugars that pool around the teeth and gums and promote prolonged acid attack. The result is often "nursing bottle mouth" or rampant decay in the primary (baby) teeth.

If you think primary teeth aren't important because they are going to be replaced anyway, you've fallen prey to a myth. Primary teeth determine your child's dental future; they reserve space for permanent teeth and steer them into place.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

I am honored and grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stratton for their invitation to attend the wedding of their beautiful daughter, Margi Lynn, to Mr. Douglas Kelly. Margi Lynn has been a fan of Woodchips since its first issue five years ago. She lives in North Reading and is a graduate of Cornell University. I am proud that I met this wonderful family through this column. My wife, Kathy, offers this advice for a long and happy marriage — "Don't ever go to bed mad — stay up and fight, then forget the whole thing." Folks, that's true in everyday living. Don't hold a grudge, because while you are upset they are out dancing. Kathy and I had an argument one day and didn't say a word to each other all the way up on a trip to New Hampshire. I saw a mule grazing in a field and asked, "One of your relatives?" "Yes," she snapped, "through marriage."

Faneuil Hall is known in history as "The Cradle of Liberty." It's also a great market area where people enjoy shopping in many open air markets. Almost every Saturday years ago, a hurdy gurdy man would play many popular songs of the day. One day my Aunt Nina from Wilmington asked, after hearing a wonderful piece of music, "Pardon me, is that music by Mozart?" "No," the genial old man replied, "It's by Handel," and he continued to turn the crank.

I firmly believe in W.C. Fields' advice, "If at first you don't succeed... try, try again, then quit. There's no sense being a damn fool about it." My friend, John Nowak of Lowell, bought a harmonica and vowed that he was going to learn to play it. He has practiced every single day for almost two years and he still sounds like a chain saw having a hard time going through a tough piece of wood. It was the same way when my mother insisted that I was going to be a great violin player. I finally gave up after a year's lessons and I couldn't even hold the bow right. My sister, Maureen, was going to be another Jeannette MacDonald. She was practicing her singing one day and the foreman of a construction crew rapped at the door and said to my mother, "Can you please have your daughter sing in the evening? My men have knocked off work three times mistaking her high 'C' as the stop work whistle."

George Burns is over 80 years old. He still appears on the stage in theatres on Broadway. One day a carpenter walked into his dressing room and said that he was there to repair the hole in the wall through which the chorus girls' dressing room could be seen on the other side. George smiled and said, "If you want to fix that hole, go ahead, but not on my account. As far as I'm concerned if the chorus girls want to look — then let them look!"

Woodchips welcomes Paul LaBossier and his lovely wife Pamela, of Wilmington, to this column. Also, Kenny Couture, of Westford; John Noonan and wife Mary Jo, of Hyde Park; Paula Fairfield, of North Reading; Jimmy Geary and Suzanne, of Lynnfield; Maureen Haley, of Reading; Karl Wurzel, of Wayland; Bob Raine, Sue Krzyko, and Mary Murray, a beautiful Irish Colleen with eyes as blue as the Lakes of Killarney, a few sun's rays for her gorgeous hair and lips like two petals from a rose. She is a veritable double for Maureen O'Hara.

George Guyette has a luxurious full beard. Last week Bob Giguere, apprentice barber, asked him "Do you want your beard trimmed?" "Nope," said George, "Just cut a hole in it so that my sweetie pie can see the necktie she gave me for Christmas."

Folks, however long and hard the climb to the top may be, the bottom is only one mis-step away.

I love trains, especially the old steam locomotives and the sound of their steam whistles. As a teenager, the sandlot field where my pals and I would play baseball, was alongside of the Boston and Maine railroad tracks. One of the pleasant memories of my youth was waving to the engineer and fireman as the train would be rushing by. I don't recall even once when they wouldn't wave back. Many people think that gum was first introduced to the people at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The late Pat O'Brien said that gum was in fact given away free on "chew, chew trains" and some people have been "stuck" on it ever since. When my Aunt Nina of Wilmington lived in New Hampshire, she took the B&M train to Boston once a week. One day the train came to an abrupt stop jolting the passengers out of their seats. "Keep calm," the conductor shouted, "we just hit a cow." "Oh dear, was it on the tracks?" Aunt Nina asked. "No," exclaimed the conductor, "We had to chase it into a barn!" At North Station she asked, "Which end of the train do I get off?" "Either end," the conductor said, "they both stop at the same time!"

"School days, school days, good old golden rule days." That is the first line of a beautiful song. Of course, the young men and women who are students at whatever level in education don't realize, (and neither did I) that these are or should be, the best days of their lives. A good teacher is a combination of many special talents. First and foremost, the teacher must be able to impart knowledge and must also be a counselor, psychologist, and surrogate parent to the smaller children. The Woodchips will vouch for this, "Absolutely no one could contemplate becoming a teacher if he or she isn't blessed with a natural sense of humor. Anyone without that attribute would be a candidate for a future residency at the Babbling Brook Academy." The following "Chips" are still vivid in my memory: Miss Sullivan — telling me to stand up and tell the chemistry class what I knew about Nitrates. I got up and said, "Nitrates are positively cheaper than day rates." "While you're still standing, Einstein," she said, "describe a vacuum." I hesitated, then stammered and stuttered. "Gee, I've got it in my head but I can't describe it." Frank Mazzoni, now of Wilmington, was asked by Mrs. Wheelock, our English teacher, to spell Mississippi. "The river or the state?" asked Frank.

"What in the world is the difference?" "Oh, the River is longer." Miss Rebecca Parsons, the history teacher, asked Grace Boutwell to tell something about Abraham Lincoln. "Well, he overcharged a lady seven cents and walked five miles to return the money to her, and she gave Honest Abe a penny for his honesty." Bob Burns piped up and said, "What the heck was so great about that?" "Well," Grace said, "that was the first Lincoln Penny." Charlie Mullen's question in history class was, "What was Gen. Custer's last command at 'Little Big Horn'?" "As he lay there wounded wearing an 'arrow' shirt he said, 'Remember men, take no prisoners!' " Jimmy Amundsen was asked in geography class, "What have the expeditions to the North Pole accomplished?" "Nothing," replied Jimmy, "cept to make the geography lessons harder." Now folks, to prove the sense of humor point, Miss Norton told our class one day, "There will be only a half-day of school this morning." John Ridings of North Reading and everyone else shouted, "Hurrah!" After everyone had quieted down she smiled and said, "We will have the other half-day of school this afternoon."

Metropolitan Credit Union celebrates 4th anniversary

Metropolitan Credit Union recently celebrated fourth anniversaries in both Lawrence and Burlington. Both of these offices have become a viable part of their communities. The Burlington office is located at 120 Cambridge Street and the Lawrence office at 215 South Broadway.

Based in Chelsea for over 60 years, Metropolitan Credit Union has long been a leader in the credit union movement. Started as a convenience exclusively for members of commercial or private organizations, credit unions now offer a full range of banking services to the community at large, while still maintaining the "family" spirit. One need be not affiliated with a particular business or organization to become a member of Metropolitan. One need only deposit a small amount into any type of account, including a vacation or Christmas Club account, to take full advantage of all of Metropolitan's programs and services.

With assets quickly approaching $175 million, Metropolitan Credit Union is one of the largest state-chartered credit unions in Massachusetts. A pioneer in the Payroll Deduction Program, Metropolitan serves over 1,200 companies. Both community and company members alike enjoy Metropolitan's full range of savings and money market accounts at high dividend, a broad choice of loans at low interest rates including adjustable and fixed-rate first mortgages, and a variety of free services to fulfill all banking needs.

Metropolitan strives to offer the most modern banking conveniences to its members. In keeping with this policy, Metropolitan installed the most up-to-date computerized home-banking system available today. Called "MATT" for Metropolitan Audio Telephone Teller, the system offers up to five banking transactions with just the use of a touch-tone phone. Thus, members can complete transactions from home, office, or even while on vacation.

Senior citizens and others who receive pension and government checks should welcome Metropolitan's Direct Deposit Program. This service guarantees the safety of the check while members earn maximum interest for this type of program.

Metropolitan also makes borrowing money as easy as possible for its members. Its No-Hassle Loan Program promises same day service on most applications received by 1 p.m.; the Home EQ Line offers a line of credit up to $175,000 based on the equity of your home for whatever purposes you determine; and its Metrocreditline Program makes funds available immediately for qualified borrowers up to a prearranged line of credit. Metropolitan's "Stop & Go" machines allow for instant deposits and/or loan payments.

Metropolitan Credit Union is constantly aware of its obligation to the community. Its efforts on behalf of Massachusetts students has earned it citations several years in a row by the Massachusetts Education Assistance Corporation for its "outstanding participation in the guaranteed Loan Program."

Despite its enormous growth, Metropolitan steadfastly maintains its neighborhood policy, always treating its clients as number one and not just a number. "Metropolitan Credit Union is proud," notes Chief Executive Officer, Marvin L. Cashman, "to be a part of Burlington and Lawrence and looks forward to serving these communities for many more years to come."

From Seabrook to Freeport

GLOVE COMPARTMENT BOOKS CHARTS THE COAST

There's nothing quite like the scent of pine woods — unless, of course, it's cool, clean sea air!

Over two million tourists flock to the eighty-mile stretch of coast between Seabrook, N.H. and Freeport, Me. each year to savor its wonderful air — or to swim, surf, sunbathe, sail, shop, dine, and enjoy the many attractions of this area. Two mountains and a desert, some of the finest Atlantic beaches, historic garrisons and quaint inns, moose, harbor seals, snowy owls, period antiques or designer clothing at discount prices are all within minutes of Portland Airport, an hour from Boston, or less than a day's drive from Canada and the mid-Atlantic states.

In the beginning it was one land — the original British grant covered everything from the sand dunes of New Hampshire to Maine's Casco Bay. The same tribe of Indians roamed this region. In times of trouble, settlers from Maine and New Hampshire joined together to defeat a common enemy — whether it was red men on the warpath or their own colonial governors. Today, there remain striking similarities among the inhabitants of this scenic seacoast, evident in the way they dig for clams or the honest welcome they extend to visitors.

Yet until now, no travel guide or map focused on this area as a whole. There are, to be sure, plenty of books about Maine or New Hampshire, but these travel aids are too general to do more than touch on what draws so many tourists to this particular stretch of coast. Coast Guide and maps are the only travel aids available for this fascinating region — and all a visitor really needs to enjoy the seacoast.

Available at bookstores or from Glove Compartment Books, P.O. Box 1602-D, Portsmouth, N.H. 03801-1602 (for mail orders, please add $1 postage and handling). Call 207-439-0789 for further information.

BOAT BUILDING

Middlesex Community College, Terrace Hall Avenue, Burlington, will again offer classes and instruction suitable for beginners who want to build their own canoe, kayak, sailboat, Irish style currach, or a cartop boat for rowing or fishing.

Also included are methods of repairing or upgrading wood, fiberglass and fabric covered craft. Choice of several designs is available according to student's preference. Classes are suited for men, women, teenagers and seniors interested in easy low cost boatbuilding using common household tools.

The entry level boatbuilding classes will be conducted by Zu Freeman who has had many years experience in both old time methods as well as the latest techniques for boat designs which are practical for construction by amateurs. Classes are held for 8 weeks on Saturday mornings beginning Sept. 12. For information or registration call 275-8910, ext. 240.

NORTHEAST SQUARES

Northeast Regional Squares, Wakefield will be doing a square dance exhibition in front of Saugus Town Hall, September 12, from 1:30 to 2:00 p.m.

Are you looking for a fun way to exercise? Want to relieve stress from your job? Like to smile and laugh? Want to meet new people of all ages? Then square dancing is for you!

Northeast Regional Squares have a new class starting September 9 and will accept new dancers until October 7. Classes are held at the Saugus Citizen Center, 402 Central Street, Saugus, every Wednesday at 8 p.m. with Bob Silva, Teacher/Caller. First class is free and thereafter, it's $3 per person.

For more information, please call Alice and Cliff 438-3028, Rena and Randy 944-0667, Marie and Roy 289-8891 or Jeff and Liz 352-2828.

MILITIA DAY

On September 12, Militia Day at Old Sturbridge Village, Sturbridge will take place. Costumed militiamen will practice musket firing and marching drills, devise military strategies, and stage a mock battle. There is no charge beyond museum admission for the day's events. For more information, call 617-347-3362; 617-347-5383 (TDD).

Quannapowitt Players 51st season

The fifty-first season for the fine, active local community theatre group, the Quannapowitt Players, gets off to a rollicking start with a production of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth," on September and October weekends starting Friday, September 18, and ending October 10.

This ever-popular comedy shows, in a rare and unusual fashion, the struggles of the human species against the forces of Nature down through the ages since the Beginning; it lauds the indestructibility of mankind faced by the enormous odds that have so far been met in human history... glaciers, fire, pestilence, wars. (If Wilder had written this play 40 years later doubtless he would have worked in the dangers of the nuclear age.) Mr. Wilder is also the author of "Our Town."

This is an unexpectedly funny and enjoyable play with a strong underlying message.

The cast, several of whom take two or more parts, includes: Kim Anello of Woburn, Kim Bauman of Wilmington, Tina Balestrieri of Middleton, Daniel Beers of Reading, Brian Bolster of Woburn, Jennifer Campbell of Wilmington, Mary Carrig of Medford, Heather Cram of Wilmington, Laura Desmond of Wilmington, Dena Foster of Beverly, Evelyn Holmes of North Reading, Linda Ladd of Wakefield, Shawn Maguire of Reading, Kathleen Moran of Wakefield, Lynn Moulton of Cambridge, Marlene Philips of Wakefield, Stephen Taylor of Wakefield.

Old Sturbridge Village is open year-round. Summer hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily through October 25. Winter hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily from October 26, 1987 to April 1, 1988. Closed Mondays, November 30, 1987 to April 1, 1988 and Christmas and New Year's days. The museum is open on Monday, December 28 and Monday, February 15. Admission is $9.50 for adults, $4.00 for children ages 6-15, and children under 6 are admitted free. Prices subject to change.

Old Sturbridge Village is located on Route 20 west in Sturbridge, Mass., near Exit 9 off the Massachusetts Turnpike and Exit 3 off Interstate 84.

From the seacoast of New Hampshire and Maine to building a boat you can't get through the cellar door, COMING ATTRACTIONS has a little something for everyone. But we miss a few and could use your help in discovering and publicizing events of interest for all. If you know of some, write, care of this local newspaper and tell us all about it. Our interests are just as diverse as yours.

Jay Stone of Salem, N.H. is directing the play; Donna Corbett of Wakefield is producer, Keith Sherman of Andover stage manager, while Marianne Uttam and Mary Ellen Zaramba, both of Reading, are creating the costumes. Eric Thompson of Reading is in charge of lighting. Props and various other backstage jobs are being ably handled by Mary Callahan of Dunstable and Nancy Hanger of Beverly. Assistant stage manager is Debbie Morrin of Belmont.

Phone the new QP Playhouse ticket number 245-4884, and make reservations soon. The theatre holds only 165 people, so many nights sell out way in advance; don't be caught napping... call!

Boston hosts 1st film festival

By ROCHELLE FLYNN

Joanne Woodward will be in town for it. So will Karen Allen and the guys who gave us "A Room with a View," James Ivory and Ismail Merchant. The Third Annual Boston Film Festival is even drawing in such diverse directors as independent filmmaker Henry Jaglom and Russ Meyer, a man well known to soft-porn aficionados.

The festival, sponsored by USA Cinemas and the Boston Phoenix, is the only one in the country run by a theatre chain. Beginning Thursday, Sept. 17 through Thursday, Sept. 24, it will allow people the opportunity to see films that would not ordinarily open in Boston, and meet with some of the filmmakers. There will also be several events hosted by the Institute of Contemporary Art (ICA) in conjunction with the festival.

One of the more interesting twists of the festival will feature several debut films by women directors while also honoring Meyer with a 17½ hour extravaganza being shown overnight at the Charles Theatre, Boston on Saturday, Sept. 19. For $15 you get to meet the filmmaker, watch such high tone films as "Faster Pussycat, Kill, Kill," "Common Law Cabin" and "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," scripted by film critic Roger Ebert. This marathon of titillation begins at 10 p.m., but if 17 hours seems overwhelming, you can buy a $6 ticket for 1-5 p.m. on Sunday. Patrons are encouraged to hold onto their ticket stubs so that

If you are looking for something that was made by women and doesn't encourage you to make them, catch one or all of the following. Friday's "Sorceress," co-scripted and produced by Cambridge native Pamela Berger, is a pretty movie shot in soft colors depicting a young woman in 17th century France who is labeled a witch by a religious fanatic for her knowledge of herbs and flowers.

"I've Heard the Mermaids Singing," one of the highlights of the festival, is a spirited movie about a secretary who sees life slightly askew, but finds great joy in simple things, while her complicated boss can't find even minor happiness. Filmed both in black and white video and color film, this is a sharp, humorous tribute to people trying to overcome "half-lives, half-lived."

Swedish director Suzanne Osten's "The Mozart Brothers" will be making its New England debut on Monday. A cross between "A Night at the Opera" and "Amadeus," it's about what happens when a pretentious director with existential tastes decides to direct a conservative crowd in "Don Giovanni."

Opening day of the festival promises to be one of the best, as all five films scheduled are U.S. premieres. Paul Newman directed the latest screen adaptation of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie," brilliantly casting his wife, Joanne Woodward, as the enigmatic, obsessed mother, but miscasting Karen Allen as the lame, shy daughter. The result, however, is still one of the best versions of the play to be caught on camera.

One of the funniest films to play the festival is "Tough Guys Don't Dance," directed and written by Norman Mailer. The director, whose brain has obviously become clogged with excessive amounts of testosterone, now claims that this is a "black comedy," but in reality it's one of the most overacted, over written, overtly macho flicks ever made and is so bad you will shriek with laughter. Ryan O'Neal is as wooden as ever, the lines are on the level of "I'm gonna deep-six heads" and the plot rambles all over Provincetown. This is not to be missed by anyone with a naughty sense of humor.

"I've Heard the Mermaids Singing" and John Sayles' most recent, and professional-looking film, "Matewan," will also be shown the first night. "Matewan" is about the 1920 Matewan Massacre in West Virginia, in which striking coal miners were shot by agents of the coal companies. Also screening on Sept. 17 is "The Theme," a Russian film that was banned in the USSR for six years, although it won the Golden Bear Award at the Berlin Film Festival.

With a few exceptions, you can attend receptions for certain films on the evening that the movie is shown. Invitations aren't necessary for these receptions, but your ticket stubs are. Most of these receptions will be held at the Commons at Copley Place, which is next door to the theatre. However, if the location is changed, this information will be available to you when you see the movie. You can also ask about specific receptions when you purchase your tickets.

There will be a $100-a-ticket benefit for the Williamstown Theatre on opening night of the festival from 6-8 p.m. at the new Boston Harbor Hotel. Joanne Woodward, Karen Allen and James Naughton, the stars of "The Glass Menagerie," will be at the party. and the 8 p.m. screening of the film at the USA Paris Cinema. Norman Mailer will also be on hand to discuss his unusual film.

Female impersonator Craig Russell, along with other stars of "Outrageous" and "Too Outrageous," Hollis McLauren and Richard Bohringer, will be in town on Friday night. "Too Outrageous" is the "drag to riches" sequel to the 1977 acclaimed Canadian comedy, "Outrageous." If this is too tame for you, there is always Russ Meyer on Saturday.

Sheila McCarthy, who gives a quirky, endearing performance as the star of "I've Heard the Mermaids Singing" will be available to meet the public on Sunday evening, when this opening night selection will be repeated. The director of "Street Trash," Jim Muro, will be in Boston on Monday. This is a rather horrifying, powerful film set among the street bums in New York City. Also in town on Monday are the Sullivans, who star in "Sullivan's Pavillion," a funny look into the life of independent filmmaker Fred Sullivan, who calls himself "Woodchuck Woody Allen."

Film festival

Sullivan turned the camera on himself and his family in order to chronicle his humorous struggle for culture amid beer cans and diapers in the Adirondack Mountains.

Director James Ivory and writer/producer Ismail Merchant have brought E.M. Forster's tale of conventional mores and homosexual yearnings, "Maurice," to the screen. The two stars of the film, James Wilby and Hugh Grant, will join Merchant and Ivory for a high tea at the St. Botolph Club, 199 Commonwealth Avenue, at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday as part of a special benefit for the ICA. The tickets are $75 per person and include a light supper and preferred seating at the 8 p.m. screening of the movie at the USA Paris Cinema. If this is too pricey, you can meet the filmmakers and actors at the Paris at 7:15 for $15 per person. This includes complimentary wine and sweets, but not preferred seating. "Maurice" will also be shown again on closing night of the festival.

If you prefer something a little bolder and certainly more unusual, then you can catch the New England premiere of "Chronos" at the Museum of Science's Mugar Omnimax Theatre on Tuesday. A 42-minute trip through time, "Chronos" is a highly visual movie, as music and imagery, not words, are used to elaborate on the theme of man throughout the ages. The whole idea is maybe a bit simplistic, but director Ron Fricke certainly fills your senses. The film will be shown at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m., followed by a reception for Fricke. Tickets are $15 per person. After the festival, "Chronos" will be added to the regular schedule at the theatre.

On Wednesday you can meet Richard Lowenstein, the director of "Dogs in Space," an Australian film about a group of friends who try to drag their Sixties lifestyle with them into the late Seventies. And on closing night there will be a party at approximately 10 p.m. at the Lafayette Hotel during which you can meet Henry Jaglom, the director of "Someone to Love," which features Orson Welles' last screen appearance.

The ICA, located at 955 Boylston Street, will be screening films most nights during the festival at 7 and 9 p.m. The list includes features, short subjects, documentaries from around the world, none more than two years old. The selection this year is eclectic and features such films as "The

"WOLF AT THE DOOR" features Max von Sydow as art critic and author 'August Strindberg,' who finds fault with the works of 'Gauguin' in that the public does not appreciate art it cannot understand.

Runner," an Iranian movie about a boy's determination to survive in a tough urban environment, to "Drive-In Blues" about the end of outdoor moviegoing, to a documentary about composer Phillip Glass.

There are over 65 films being shown in the festival, not including Meyer's flicks or what's happening at the ICA. If you plan on attending many of them, the best bet economically is to purchase a Producer Series coupon booklet for $150, good for 30 admissions. There is an $80 booklet good for 20 admissions and a $50 booklet with 10 tickets. Individual tickets cost $6 each and can be purchased on the day of the movie, but allow yourself extra time, this is a popular event and the lines were long last year. You can buy the series tickets at Copley Place and most of the USA Cinemas in Cambridge and Boston. All of the movies will be screened at Copley Place unless otherwise indicated. If you want to map out a schedule or need updated information, call the festival hotline at 972-6000, extension 5900.

Wintergreen Properties Race for scholarship fund

Gerry Giltitz, of the Greater Derry Track Club, announced that there will be a race for the Greater Derry Track Club Scholarship Fund. The "Wintergreen Five Mile" is being sponsored by Wintergreen Properties of Londonderry and Derry.

The race will be run on Sunday, September 13, 1987. It will start and finish at Wintergreen's Londonderry office at 10 a.m. sharp. Runners may preregister by contacting Wintergreen at 432-3200 or The Greater Derry Track Club at P.O. Box 402, Derry, N.H., 03038, or runners may also register the day of the race, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Long sleeve t-shirts will be awarded to all registered runners and prizes will be awarded to the top three male and female winners in seven age categories.

Jean Cleary, President of Wintergreen, when asked about the race stated, "I feel it's a great way of raising funds for a good cause. It's always nice when you can get a community together for a fun event such as this run, and raise a few dollars for a scholarship at the same time. I would also like to thank Mike Beeman of Total Sports, and Derry Donuts for helping with some of the prizes and food."

The entrance fee is $8 for those who preregister and $9 the day of the race. Plenty of refreshments will be available after the race.

Talker Won't Shut His Mouth Until He Opens Up His Ears

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "Motormouth in Denver" (the woman who talked incessantly) didn't address the root cause of her problem, namely being self-centered. She must learn to view conversation as an opportunity to learn about others, not just a chance to talk.

A technique I use to help my students learn this is called "Talking Chips." Each child in a discussion group is given a chip. When he wants to talk, he puts his chip in the center of the table. Once it's used, he can't speak again until everyone else has "spent" his or her chip. Then another round begins. Children learn quickly to conserve their chips and really make it count when they do speak. If you interrupt, it costs you your chip — so few make that mistake twice! But most important, it turns talkers into listeners.

If "Motormouth" would tell herself that before she talks again, everyone in the group will have spoken or had the opportunity to speak without having to fight for it, she will no longer dominate conversations.

I hope this is helpful, Abby. So few people seem to realize that the real joy in conversation is listening, not talking.

VALERIE STEVENSON,
SAN DIEGO

DEAR VALERIE: What a clever teacher you are! If more adults applied your listening technique, there would be less noise pollution, and more meaningful conversations.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I received a wedding invitation in the mail from a couple I do not know.

I have asked all of my family and friends if they knew who these people are, but nobody has ever heard of them!

The wedding is to be held at a courthouse in another city, which suggests that it will be a very small wedding. I should know this couple fairly well to be on their guest list.

Abby, how do I tell the bride and groom that I would love to attend if I could remember who they are without causing embarrassment? What would you do?

MYSTIFIED

DEAR MYSTIFIED: I would politely decline. It would be more humiliating to be asked, "Who are you?" than to receive a courteous "No, thank you."

***

DEAR ABBY: "Missing Calls" complained because people would hang up instead of leaving a message on the answering machine provided for that purpose.

You said, "Don't sweat it — they'll call back."

You're so right. And when they do call back, it's with scoldings: "I've been calling you for days — you're the hardest person to get hold of!" They also ask nosy questions such as: "Where have you been?" And, "How long does it take you to get home from work, anyhow?" Some tell outright lies: "I let the phone ring 20 times!"

Please tell "Missing Calls" she ain't missing much.

WAIT FOR THE BEEP

Eggs and all about 'em

By SUZANNE MARTINSON
Scripps Howard News Service

When I was growing up on the farm, we ate eggs for breakfast almost every day.

My mother seemed to plop them in the pan when my father went to milk our Guernsey cows and took them out an hour — 16 udders — later when he came in from the barn. The eggs emerged from the frying pan doused with bacon grease, yolks broken and hardened, whites crispy at the edges. We ate them with frosting-laden bismarcks. I'll never forget it. Some of the lard still clings to my hips.

Later, I went away to college to study home economics and learned words like albumen and cholesterol. I learned from my Food Preparation 101 teacher that to overcook an egg was a sin against both nature and the chicken that laid it.

And to call an egg hard-boiled was to utter a profanity.

"Hard-cooked! Hard-cooked!" my professor would shout as she dashed about the food lab in her white technician's coat, her dark hair pulled back into a bun.

She admonished us that to cook the guts out of an egg, coagulating the protein until it curled, was akin to murder in the first degree. I never mentioned the eggs at our farm breakfasts.

Four years later, I was the one in the apron, as I gave my junior-high students the straight shtik about eggs.

"Don't boil! Hard-cook! Hard-cook!" I'd holler during the egg lesson.

At home, however, I'd secretly ignore the drop-eggs-in-boiling-water and turn-off-the-range directions. I didn't actually boil them, but I did simmer the bejabbers out of 'em.

When I married Ace, I found myself arguing about eggs. Ace yearns for yolks running about the plate. Food Prep I to the contrary, I still prefer my eggs "farm-style."

Ace and I battle for the heart, mind and over-easy preferences of our daughter, Jessica, 8. I am also trying to teach her how to cook.

"Tap the egg gently to break the shell," I say in my best home ec teacher voice.

Splat!

"Sorry, Mom," says Jessica.

Little by little, I will acquaint her with the fun facts about eggs. You, too, can impress your friends at parties. Just drop in these:

When an egg is fresh, the yolk will stand tall in the center of the white. However, if the egg white spreads out to fill the whole frying pan, the egg was probably laid when Lassie was a pup.

The eggs of my rural youth were fresh. The breakfast table was almost in earshot of the cackling hens in Grandma's henhouse. In the summer, when the hens were outdoors scratching, the yolks were dark gold. In the winter, when they ate only chicken feed, the yolks were pale.

Grandma's eggs tasted like eggs. Sanitized store-bought eggs, laid by force-fed chickens whose roost never goes dark so they believe it's still working hours, can't hold a candle to them.

For the best volume, beat egg whites when they are at room temperature. However, it is easier to separate eggs when they are cold. Making meringue becomes a half-day job.

Don't beat egg whites in a

Schoolhouse still stands where Mary had little lamb

By JIM RATTRAY

SUDBURY, Mass. (UPI) — They still talk about that spring day in 1815, when Mary Elizabeth Sawyer's tiny pet lamb followed her to school and nestled itself in a blanket underneath her desk.

"It's known throughout the countryside," Francis Koppeis, innkeeper at the nearby Wayside Inn, said of Mary's unique schoolmate, the lamb that inspired the legendary children's tale.

The 189-year-old one-room red schoolhouse — with its gouged wooden desks, oversized wood-burning stove and black slate chalkboards — now stands on a 5,000-acre tract adjacent to the famous inn.

Originally built in nearby Sterling in 1798, the tiny schoolhouse fell silent until auto magnate Henry Ford bought it and moved it to Sudbury, had hoped to create an historic village similar to Sturbridge Village in western Massachusetts.

"It's the same as you might have seen in 1940," Koppeis said of the schoolhouse. "There's the same pot-bellied stove and the same desks and the same blackboards. Even the outhouse is there."

The 22-seat school operated as part of the Sudbury school system from 1927 until 1951. To this day, groups of schoolchildren in the western Boston suburb dress up in period costume and use the building for special English workshops.

While still located in Sterling, the school became famous when a tiny lamb one day followed a young schoolgirl to class. Mary Sawyer wrapped the animal in a striped blanket and tried to conceal it under her small desk.

"The story is allegedly true that the lamb did follow her to school," Koppeis said. "The lamb, like a little puppy dog, followed her right into the schoolhouse."

"It was not unusual to have a baby lamb as part of a household or in the house, but it was something else that it followed her into school," Koppeis said. "A great friendship attached Mary to the lamb."

Shortly after Mary's teacher, Miss Polly Kimball, discovered the animal sleeping under the girl's desk, word spread throughout the tiny community, finally reaching a budding Harvard poet.

John Roulstone dashed off a 12-line verse about Mary and her little white lamb, and rode by horseback to the tiny school to hand-deliver the note to the girl. Sarah Josepha Hale later expanded the poem.

Some 65 years later, the tale was printed on small postcards which were sold to benefit Boston's Old South Church. The cards were sold with swatches

State forms will be provided. No appointments are needed for blood tests; however, the hospital will require the name and address of one's physician where results will be sent.

The Nuclear Medicine Department will offer osteoporosis screenings, utilizing its state-of-the-art bone densitometer. Appointments are required for the 40-minute exam. There is a fee for this exam. Appointments may be made by calling the hospital at 729-9000, ext. 3269. Results will be sent to one's physician. Four cancer screenings will be offered: colo-rectal, oral, skin, and testicular.

Other screenings will be for hypertension, lead poisoning, lung function and lung capacity, pulse oximetry (to determine oxygen levels in the blood, and indication of pulmonary disorder), hearing, and foot disorders. Height and weight will be recorded.

Another screening gaining in popularity is a new computerized diet analysis. Under the direction of the hospital's dietitians, fairgoers will be invited to enter into the computer examples of their average daily food intake. The computer will then tell them how adequate it is and what can be done to accomplish a goal of improved diet or weight loss. The diet analysis will be free at the fair.

Demonstrations will highlight the Rehabilitation Department's new auto-traction equipment and its Back School; Lifeline; and the Social Service Department's support groups. Displays will provide information on the Center for Nutritional Research, Physician Referral Service, hospital volunteer program, and women's health issues. The Winchester Police Department will provide information on drug abuse, and the Winchester Board of Health will present a display on seatbelt safety and accident prevention.

Two films — "Beyond Fear," an American Red Cross film on AIDS, and one on breast self-exam, with demonstration — will be shown on a continuous basis; and tours will be conducted of the hospital's high-tech Radiology Department.

Physicians and nurses will be available at a counseling referral table to discuss screening results.

The Gift and Coffee Shop will be open, and a shuttle bus for the convenience of senior citizens will leave the Jenks Senior Center in Winchester Center every hour on the hour.

More information about the fair may be made by calling the Community Relations Department at 729-9000, ext. 3040.

DR. GOTT

Peter
Gott, M.D.

Their policy causes migraine

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor prescribed Inderal as a preventive for my daily migraines. It worked! However, an insurance company has refused to write hospitalization insurance on me because I take this medicine, although my doctor wrote the company to say that I don't have heart trouble.

Maybe you can help me get the "outer-space" insurance industry to understand this use of Inderal. Increased coverage costs are giving me an even bigger headache.

DEAR READER — You bring up a troublesome question for which I have no ready answer. Insurance companies are becoming increasingly chary about providing health coverage for "pre-existing conditions"; these mega-corporations are also trying to maximize profits by refusing to write insurance for certain ailments. The companies have a right to do this, because in a free-market society, they can make their own rules.

In my opinion, refusing to insure a patient with medication-controlled migraine is unfair — it's really stretching the limit.

I think that you have several options. First, write a letter to the medical director of the insurance company. Explain your problem and emphasize that your use of the prescription beta-blocker Inderal is for migraine prevention, not for the treatment of cardiovascular disease. Unfortunately, your application and your doctor's letter may have ended up on the desk of someone who saw the word "Inderal" and equated it with heart disease. Go over this person's head to the director. Send the letter by registered mail, return receipt requested, and ask the doctor for a ruling. If he or she rules against you, demand a copy of the company policy that was the basis for the rejection of your application.

Second, look for a competing company that would be willing to write your insurance at standard rates. The insurance business is competitive and you may be able to find satisfactory coverage by shopping around. To my knowledge, there is no standard industry agreement that discriminates against migraine sufferers.

If these approaches are ineffective, ask your attorney to write (on his letterhead) to the president of the insurance company. It's amazing how much action can be precipitated by a carefully worded little letter from a lawyer. People in high places do not welcome correspondence from attorneys who make inquiries on behalf of dissatisfied consumers. If the company does, indeed, have an anti-migraine, anti-Inderal policy, perhaps this is the time for management to rescind or modify it.

Fourth, look for a health maintenance organization in your community. Prepaid HMOs usually do not discriminate with the precision used by insurance companies. You may be able to obtain medical coverage for yourself and your family through a plan offered by your (or your spouse's) employer.

Finally, you might investigate non-drug methods of treating your migraine. The use of hypnosis, stress counseling, diet alteration or biofeedback may enable you to discontinue the Inderal and satisfy the insurance company. Perhaps your own doctor can counsel you about which resource would be appropriate for your case.

To give you more information about the treatment of migraines, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on HEADACHES. Others who would like a copy should send their name and address and $1 to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Headaches.

'Learn to Lose' program at Symmes Hospital

ARLINGTON — "Diets really don't work because the behavior change is only temporary. Diet implies something you go on and off," said Marie Whelan, M.S., R.D., nutritionist and group leader of Learning to Lose, the weight control program offered at Symmes Hospital in Arlington.

"It's the behavior change that's important or one's eating habits that's responsible for weight loss, it's not necessarily the foods per se," added Ms. Whelan. "Weight control is a long-term commitment, that's why behavior change is so important. Sometimes making a small change can make a difference over the long term. That's why we encourage slow, steady, healthy weight loss in Learning to Lose," Ms. Whelan added.

Learning to Lose, a medically-sound, behavior modification oriented weight control program for those needing to lose 30 lbs. or less and have no major medical complications, will begin at the Symmes Hospital with orientation on Tuesday, September 22 and continuing for 13 weeks on Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 2 p.m.

Pre-registration is required. For registration and fee information, please call 646-1500, ext. 2291.

Learning to Lose is also being offered at the Choate Hospital in Woburn on Wednesdays, September 23 through December 16 from either 5:30 to 7 p.m. or 7:30 to 9 p.m. Taught by Janet Murray, R.D.

20-day self-help program to stop smoking

ARLINGTON — Choate-Symmes Health Services is offering a 20-day self help stop smoking program, a proven method of the American Lung Association.

This program offers a supportive environment and learning experience to enable participants to stop smoking. Some topics that will be addressed through the use of discussion and films include: smoking patterns, withdrawal, diet, coping with urges and more.

The group will begin with an orientation session, three meetings will be held during the 20-day plan and a follow-up meeting will also take place.

The program will be offered at the Symmes Hospital on Thursdays, September 17 through October 15 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Pre-registration is required. There is a fee. To register, please call Community Health Education at 646-1500, ext. 2291.

plastic bowl. Enough fat adheres to the bowl to frustrate your efforts.

To separate a hard-cooked (practice that word) egg from its shell, it helps to douse the hot eggs in cold running water. Rumors are rampant that it's easier to peel aged eggs. A friend claims a little vinegar in the cooking water helps. I have had erratic luck peeling eggs. I never promise to bring deviled eggs to potlucks.

Brown eggs and white eggs are different. Brown eggs have brown shells and white eggs have white shells. When I gave my junior-high kids their egg lesson, I'd always break one of each into a saucer.

"See, they may look different outside, but they're alike on the inside," I'd say, pausing for dramatic effect, "just like people."

It's just one of life's lessons that we can learn from eggs.

Exotic foods —

Not the same old grind for this butcher

By BILL BRADLEY

DENVER (UPI) — Some of the animals Dale Beier grinds into sausage could growl back at an empty stomach and wildlife advocates say it's enough to make them lose their appetites.

Beier processes meat from the African lion, black bear, llama, hippopotamus, elk, buffalo, reindeer and other creatures from a wide variety of rangelands.

He said he sells the cuts to hundreds of restaurants who want to offer jaded diners something exotic and to people who eschew traditional meats for health reasons.

"Many heart patients, some people suffering from allergies and some people on other special diets need game meats," Beier said.

Federal law forbids commercial sale of meat from animals killed in the wild but Beier said all his meats are raised on farms or ranches for commercial purposes. He won't divulge any of his regular sources by name, but said he gets beaver from the Bitterroot Valley of Montana, venison from New Zealand, black bear from Canada, and lion from southern Missouri.

Lion is one of the advertised ingredients of a sausage listed at $3.75 per pound.

This trafficking in exotic meats gets the goat of people like Tom Peterson of the Denver Zoological Foundation, whose main beef concerns the lions.

"Who raises lions for that purpose?" he asked. "It would be a concern for me if there were that kind of operation."

Peterson said he doubts if there are enough government inspectors to provide adequate controls on the exotic meat business.

"If you run a business like that, you might keep the black market in operation," he said.

"Who's to say a fox, for example, killed in the wild, doesn't find its way into a so-called commercial operation?"

The fat hit the fire this summer when Beier's company, Dale's Exotic Game Meat, was eliminated from donating food to a civic fund-raising event.

Originally, Beier was one of 30 Colorado restaurants and caterers scheduled to participate in the Denver Center of the Performing Arts "Summer in the City."

Beier was going to offer his Jungle Sausage, a mixture of lion and kangaroo meat and one of his most popular items, he said.

"Somebody affiliated with the zoo brought it to the attention of the DCPA," Peterson said. "The DCPA conducted its own investigation and decided to pull (Beier) out."

But Beier's exotic meat products have been hailed in restaurant industry publications as a quick fix for failing menus.

"I supply about 700 restaurants in 28 states through major suppliers. We supply mostly west of the Mississippi, a little bit east."

Beier sells about 5,000 pounds of game meat a week through wholesale and mail order catalogs. He offers a range of items from venison medallion steaks at $12.75 per pound to a gift pack of buffalo and venison sausage with cheese and mustard for $19.95.

Beier said the American Heart Association has endorsed certain wild game meats.

Jennifer Anderson, a spokeswoman for the Colorado Heart Association and a dietician at Colorado State University, said, "There is no USDA data for meats like that. I don't think he has any basis for his claims, unless he went to a national lab to have those meats analyzed."

Anderson said she was not aware of any significant cholesterol reduction claims for game meats. "I do enough work with the Colorado Heart Association that I would know."

BUTCHER DALE BEIER HOLDS A FROZEN rattlesnake in the meat locker of his exotic butcher shop in Denver. Beier's shop offers a variety of game meat from African lion to hippopotamus. (UPI)

Another dietician at CSU discounted Beier's claims that exotic meats are better from a health standpoint.

Vivian Bradford, president of the Colorado Dietetic Association, said three-ounce servings of venison, pork, pheasant or beef all have 80 milligrams of cholesterol. Bradford said game animals have lower fat content, but low fat does not translate into low cholesterol.

Beier said several allergy specialists send patients to him after diagnosing sensitivities to traditional meats such as beef, pork and chicken.

But Dr. William Silvers, president-elect of the Colorado Allergy Society, said, "Someone who suffers from a beef allergy might experience a brief improvement from lion's meat," Silvers said, "but it would be highly unusual if it was anything other than a placebo effect, simply the power of suggestion."

Silvers said over a period of time, someone with a food allergy would experience the same problems with game meats.

Beier also said many loyal customers lean on him for help in controlling waist lines.

"They want to lose weight but still want to eat meat," Beier said. "Elk meat just doesn't have any fat in it but it's very high in protein."

CSU dietician Pat Kendall agreed.

"An animal raised in the wild, versus any kind of animal raised in captivity, will have a lower percentage of fat," Kendall said. "Just like humans, exercising has something to do with fat content."

Beier recognizes his is a controversial business.

"They say we kill Bambi," he said. "But people eat lamb, veal and rabbit. There's nothing cuter than a lamb. About the only animal we process that's a pet is rabbit. We sell 500 rabbits a week."

However, there are creatures Beier said, that he can't process and sell.

"Seal meat is too emotional," he said.

have strong, creative elements. The aspects indicate you could be fortunate in these areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your budget is teetering in delicate balance today. If you cater to your extravagant whims, you could easily tip it over. Trying to

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are likely to be a better manager than your spouse today. See if you can control the purse strings without wounding his or her ego.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Operate along logical lines today. Don't let your emotions cloud your better judgment and cause you to make avoidable mistakes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Disciplined, prudent management will keep you on the plus side of the column in your financial affairs today. If it isn't essential, don't buy it now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's a strong chance that a statement you make will be challenged today. Don't pass off something as gospel if you don't have the facts to back you up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be extremely careful whom you take into your confidence today. Don't talk about discreet matters to someone you know from experience cannot keep a secret.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's best not to spring changes on your companions today. Even though you might think your ideas are great, they may not be inclined to agree.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Even though it may cause you a degree of inconvenience, strive to honor your promises today. Don't give associates reasons for questioning your word.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This can be a reasonably productive day for you, provided you are not hampered by slothful co-workers. Don't let the less energetic ones determine your pace.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your luck has its limitations today, so exercise your best judgment in situations that have strong elements of chance. If you do something impulsive, you might regret it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Maintain the status quo on the homefront today if everything is running harmoniously.
Don't be the author of unnecessary dissension.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things should proceed in an orderly fashion today, provided you don't make last-minute changes. Impulsive alterations could gum up the works.

28 convicts and nine hostages were killed as state police retook the prison.

IRS booklets explain new tax laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans befuddled by the new tax law can get two free booklets from the Internal Revenue Service explaining the changes.

The booklets — Publication 920, which covers the tax changes for individuals, and Publication 921, covering changes for businesses — use a combination of charts and articles to detail how the new law works, the IRS said today.

Among the topics covered in Publication 920 are changes in the rules for Individual Retirement Accounts, itemized deductions and new limits on personal interest.

The business-related booklet, Publication 921, covers 10 business areas, including changes in business expenses, deductions for travel expenses and business use of phones.

Both booklets are free and may be ordered by calling 1-800-424-FORM or by phoning the local IRS office for the address of the appropriate Forms Distribution Center.

Beginning Wednesday,

September 16, at 7:30 p.m., the Social Services Department will hold the first in a series of eight free meetings.

The cancer support group will meet the first and third Wednesday of each month from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Social Service Department office.

Clearing a path

The final contract was good. North had understated his values when he bid only two diamonds. When his partner continued with two spades, North was well within his rights to cue-bid the ace of hearts. South then subsided in three no-trump.

The bidding had been precise, but the play now became a little heavy-handed. Declarer took the ace of hearts right away and played A-Q of diamonds. Unfortunately the suit did not divide. Declarer continued with a diamond to dummy's king and then had to win the fourth diamond trick in his hand with the nine, leaving dummy's fifth good diamond stranded. Meanwhile West had discarded two clubs and a spade. When declarer exited with the heart jack in the vain hope of some favorable end position, West led the king of clubs right away to let East know which black nine he should keep guarded if West continued with three more heart tricks. That made it impossible for declarer to cajole any kind of defensive error, and he had to go down a trick.

Declarer had overlooked a somewhat rare play. Since a problem in communication did figure to arise in the diamond suit (3-1 is the normal division), South should have looked for a solution. All he had to do was duck the opening lead and then duck the queen of hearts continuation. When declarer wins the third heart lead with dummy's ace, he should discard a diamond from his hand. He can now return to his hand with the A-Q of diamonds, lead to dummy's king and then cash out dummy's last two good diamonds to make his contract.

of wool allegedly from Mary's lamb, salvaged from stockings her mother had made.

Mary Sawyer, who later became Mary Tyler, was a minor celebrity around town until her death at age 83, traveling to church bazaars and other gatherings to retell her tale.

Despite the several hundred children who learned to read and write in the cozy schoolhouse, the building will always be remembered for that day Mary's little lamb followed her to class.

"That's the singular background of this school," Koppeis said. "That's what makes (the school) special. That's what makes youngsters and oldsters come by and visit."

The Harriet Hootor Ballet School, an established & recognized school, is not a "dance recital school" which spends students' class time & money on preparation & expensive costumes. Our efforts are directed toward building a secure foundation in classical ballet technique & improving skill while developing coordination, grace, rhythm, poise & self-discipline, not only for the serious dance student, but for those who take ballet to help other talents & interests, for exercise, or just for the enjoyment of the art.
